SAAMA MISSION

The mission of the San Antonio Air Materiel Area is to provide logistic and administrative support to the United States Air Force and designated Department of Defense activities. This involves planning, buying, storing, transporting, and repairing assigned equipment to keep scattered Air Force units combat-ready.

SAAMA is one of nine air materiel areas in the United States under Headquarters, Air Materiel Command at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, that performs this mission, on a worldwide basis, for selected Air Force equipment, and provides technical assistance within its geographical area, Texas, New Mexico, and Louisiana west of the Mississippi River comprise the San Antonio Air Materiel Area.

SAAMA's primary responsibility is procurement-to-disposal management of the T-29, T-34, C-45, C-131, F-102, F-106, B-58 and B-70 weapon systems, approximately half of the propulsion systems used by the Air Force, and 270,000 separate stock items including atomic ordnance training weapons and applicable test and handling equipment.

In addition, SAAMA is responsible for modernizing and overhauling specific items within its industrial shops. These include B-52 and B-58 bombers, R-4360, T34 and T56 aircraft engines, and designated aircraft and engine components.

SAAMA also performs other services on an Air Force or Department of Defense-wide scope. SAAMA is a medical materiel primary stock point for all military services within Texas and New Mexico and performs the Air Force Medical Assembly Mission worldwide. SAAMA also is the single DOD point for control of bidders on surplus property sales (called the Armed Forces Surplus Property Bidders Registration and Sales Information Office) and operates the Consolidated Surplus Sales Office for Area 8, which is 1 of 25 within the DOD. Other responsibilities include writing Air Force procedures for radiological decontamination and contracting for radioactive waste disposal, operating a foreign clearance station, and managing and operating the second largest of the industrially funded Air Force Printing Service Plants.

Headquarters SAAMA is the largest of approximately 20 organizations on Kelly AFB, Texas, and exercises command jurisdiction over the Commander, 2851st Air Base Wing charged with operating Kelly AFB and the San Antonio Air Force Station (adjacent to Fort Sam Houston), and exercising jurisdiction over Gray and Bryan Air Force bases in Texas.

BIOGRAPHY OF MAJOR GENERAL WILLIAM THOMAS HUDNELL

William Thomas Hudnell was born in Aurora, North Carolina, November 28, 1908. He was graduated from high school at Washington, North Carolina, in 1927 and attended the University of North Carolina, Bethany College and St. Mary's University in San Antonio, Texas.

In January 1931, he enlisted in the Air Corps, and in July 1932 was appointed a flying cadet. A year later, after completing flying training, he was rated a pilot and commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Reserve. He received his Regular Commission as a second lieutenant of Air Corps August 1, 1935.

General Hudnell's first assignment as an officer was with the 35th Pursuit Squadron at Langley Field, Virginia. In September 1935, he was transferred to the 17th Pursuit Squadron at Selfridge Field, Michigan. He entered the Armament School at Chanute Field, Illinois, in December 1936, and graduated in July 1937 and transferred to the Panama Canal Zone, where he served successively with the 24th Pursuit Squadron and the 25th Bomb Squadron.

In September 1939, General Hudnell was assigned to the Eighth Pursuit Group at Langley Field. He assumed command of the 36th Pursuit Squadron at Mitchel Field, New York in February 1941, and in May 1942, was named Assistant Chief of Staff for Materiel of the First Fighter Command also at Mitchel Field.

General Hudnell was transferred to the Southwest Pacific theater in July 1943 as Assistant Chief of Staff for Materiel of the Fifth Air Force. In December 1943, he was named Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics and Administration of the Far East Air Forces in that theater, and in November 1944, assumed command of the 59th Air Service Group of the Fifth Air Force in the Philippine Islands. He was reappointed Assistant Chief of Staff for Materiel of the Fifth Air Force in March 1945, and two months later was named Acting Chief of Staff of that organization.

In August 1945, General Hudnell returned to the United States, and two months later was assigned to AAF headquarters, Washington, D. C., as chief of the Materiel Branch, Requirements Division, in the Office of the Assistant Chief of Air Staff for Operations. In November 1946, he assumed command of the 58th Fighter Wing at Selfridge Field, Michigan.

General Hudnell entered the Air War College at Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama, in June 1949, and was graduated in July 1950. He then was assigned to Air Force headquarters, as chief of the Plans Division in the Directorate of Logistic Plans, Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Materiel. In June 1951, he was designated Deputy Assistant for Logistics Plans in that office and the following month became Assistant for Logistics Plans.

Joining the Far East Air Forces in July 1954, General Hudnell was named Vice Commander of the Far East Logistics Force in Japan. On May 1, 1955, he was appointed Vice Commander of the Air Materiel Force, Pacific Area, and on November 3, 1955, he assumed command.

In August 1958 General Hudnell became Director of Maintenance Engineering at Headquarters, Air Materiel Command. He assumed command of the San Antonio Air Materiel Area at Kelly AFB in August 1960.

His decorations include the Legion of Merit, Commendation Ribbon, Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with one Oak Leaf Cluster. He is rated a Command Pilot and during World War II flew 35 combat missions in the Southwest Pacific theater of operations.

He and his wife, the former Miss Virginia M. Kessink of Champaign, Illinois, have two children, Virginia, and William Jr.

OUR PLANES - OUR PRIDE

THE KELLY STORY

The first military air base in Texas and one of the first in the United States, Kelly Air Force Base, has grown into one of the nation's most important air bases.

Kelly AFB was named for Lt. George E. M. Kelly, the first military pilot to lose his life in an aircraft accident. Lt. Kelly was killed May 10, 1911, when a brace on his Curtiss biplane collapsed while making a landing at Fort Sam Houston.

The first World War saw military aviation come into focus as an instrument of combat. A site for the U. S. Army's rapidly-expanding flying activity was needed. It was selected approximately ten miles from Fort Sam Houston, where the first government flying activity had started in 1909, and about six miles southwest of the city of San Antonio. The site was named Camp Kelly.

Camp Kelly was redesignated Kelly Field on July 30, 1917, and given its present official name, Kelly Air Force Base, Texas, by USAF General Order 2 on January 13, 1948.

In 1918 the old aviation field looked like this

The Cradle of Aviation in the United States. Kelly Field, 31 January 1919

Here, recruit training, flying training, ground officers training and enlisted mechanics training was given from May 1917 to the end of 1918. All fliers trained during World War I (1,562 cadets and student officers) graduated from the primary flying school and/or the instructor flying school. During the 18 months the United States fought World War I, Kelly grew from a cotton patch to the greatest flying field in the world.

After the Great War, the Air Corps Advanced Flying School (later renamed the Air Service Advanced Flying School) operated at Kelly Field for 18 years. Between 1922 and 1940, 3,945 pilots graduated from this school. These were the men on whom, in large part, depended the success of the U. S. Army Air Corps in World War II. Those training at Kelly included such later aviation greats as General Billy Mitchell, Hap Arnold, Charles A. Lindbergh, Jimmy Doolittle, George Kenney and Toohey Spaatz.

By 1943, however, flying activities of Kelly Field had

Final assembly-maintenance in 1921

Maintenance's F-51 overhaul line been dispersed to other fields, and depot logistical support functions had become the primary concern of Kelly. Thereafter, instead of training pilots Kelly served as a huge, industrial-type establishment, concentrating on the modification and repair of aircraft and aircraft engines, and the storage and transporting of tremendous stocks of material. This remained Kelly's responsibility during World War II and subsequent years.

In 1948, post-war retrenchment, which had brought a slowdown of pace at Kelly, ended abruptly with the inauguration of Operation Vittles, a daring venture to supply the Western Sector of Berlin with food and other necessities during the Russian blockade. Kelly Air Force Base won nationwide attention, as the depot worked around the clock, overhauling engines for the C-54's that flew into Templehof Air Base every three minutes, day and night. From June 1948 until June 1949, Kelly AFB shipped approximately $50 million worth of engines to Operation Vittles, as well as $7 million worth of other material.

With the beginning of the Korean conflict in June 1950, Kelly again worked three shifts a day to ready thousands of planes for combat use. Civilian strength on the base jumped to 23,269 in June 1952, greater than at any time during World War II.

During Kelly's life it has grown from the tent city of 1917 into one of the largest and most important bases in the Air Force. Kelly proper in 1959 covered 3,879.66 acres. A Kelly annex (Kannex) located adjacent to Fort Sam Houston and officially designated the San Antonio Air Force Station consisted of an additional 245.4 acres.

Since 1952, a major construction program has greatly increased Kelly's physical facilities. A huge mile-around aircraft maintenance hangar and shops facility, a two-mile runway capable of accommodating the biggest and fastest jet bombers, headquarters buildings for USAF Security Service, new Texas Air National Guard facilities, a new Air Freight Terminal, two warehouses and various other buildings have added approximately $45 million to the physical assets of the giant base.

Today the B-52 Stratofortress, a leader in Air Force power, is a major overhaul responsibility of the SAAMA depot.

Lt George E. M. Kelly

Lt George E. M. Kelly was born in London, England, December 14, 1878 and educated at private schools and Bedford. He came to the United States in August 1896 and went to Great Falls, Montana, where two uncles were in business. Engaged in several occupations with little success except to gain some mechanical experience. At the outbreak of the Boer War tried to join Canadian Mounted Rifles, but was rejected on account of light weight. Became a naturalized American citizen in 1902.

In summer of 1903 went to New York City and while there first learned that a commission in the U. S. Army could be obtained through the ranks. He enlisted on January 14, 1904 and was assigned to the 84th Co., C.A.C. After two years of service, he made application to be examined for a commission in December 1905. Passed preliminary examination at New York City in March 1906, and final examination at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas in January 1907.

Was commissioned in Infantry with date of rank from January 1907, and assigned to 30th Infantry. Went to Philippines with that regiment in July 1907. Was on detached service for a year on topographical Survey of Luzon.

Left Philippines on leave in July 1909 and traveled to China and then to England by way of Suez. Observed privately the British Army maneuvers in fall of 1909 and returned to United States in December 1909 and joined the 30th Infantry in San Francisco. Was attached to the Battalion under Major J. P. O'Neil at aviation meet at Selfridge Field. Made an ascent with Walter Brookins and took photographs. Was detailed by War Department to proceed to San Diego where he took instruction in aviation under Glen H. Curtiss in February 1911.

Lt Kelly was killed at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, in an airplane accident May 10, 1911, and buried in National Cemetery on East Commerce Street, San Antonio, Texas, on May 15, 1911. Honorary pall bearers: Lts Paul W. Beck, B. D. Foulis, John C. Walker, Fred C. Test, Horace M. Hickam, O. O. Ellis.

Lt Kelly's crash was historic because he was the first Army pilot and second officer to lose his life in military aviation. It also resulted in the suspension of flying activity in the San Antonio locality for several years.

The most quoted account of Lt Kelly's accident appeared in the Monterey News, 12 May 1911. The sub-head appearing above the story "Young Aviator in Wild Flight of 75 Miles Per Hour Plunges To Death" has been used in almost every account of the accident published locally. This story pictures Lt Kelly as a hero, explaining that while he was landing a Curtiss biplane a brace from one of the wheels collapsed and the plane bounced and veered toward the camp of the Eleventh Infantry. To avoid plowing into the camp, Lt Kelly banked sharply and dove into the ground.

An account of this fatal crash appearing in How Our Army Grew Wings by Chandler and Lahm gives this description of Lt. Kelly's accident:

After being in the air for about 5 minutes, Kelly appeared to come down for a landing, but without reducing the speed of the engine. He failed to level off in time and the single front wheel struck the ground with considerable force. He ascended again and turned, apparently for another approach to the open landing space. Observers on the ground noticed that the controls failed to operate this time in the usual manner. The machine hit the ground so hard that Kelly was pitched forward over the front elevator for a distance of approximately 100 feet. A fractured skull ended his life a few hours later.

The opinion of the Board of Investigation (Captain Beck, First Lieutenants Foulis and Walker) was, that the first hard contact with the ground probably broke the front steering-wheel fork and perhaps other parts of the control system.

The death of Lt Kelly created a most unfavorable impression of aviation on the Commanding General of the Maneuver Division — so much so in fact, that he issued an order prohibiting further flying from the drill ground at Fort Sam Houston. That was very discouraging to the two remaining air pilots, Beck and Foulis, but the War Department was already committed to the establishment of a flying school at College Park, Maryland, not far from Washington.

Brigadier General James Parker, Commander of the Department of Texas, named the Aviation Camp located about five miles south of San Antonio, Texas "Camp Kelly" in honor of 2nd Lt George E. M. Kelly. This act is officially recorded in General Orders 32, Hq Southern Department, Fort Sam Houston, Texas. "Camp Kelly" was later redesignated Kelly Field on 30 July 1917 by General Orders 49, Hq Southern Department, Fort Sam Houston, Texas. Lt Kelly's family still resided in Ireland when notified that Kelly Field was named in his honor. Mrs. May Bell-Kingsley of County Tipperary, under date of September 14, 1917, wrote on behalf of the family, the following letter of appreciation to Major General Parker.

Sir: I wish to offer you in union with my family my deep and grateful sense of the abiding memorial you have lately initiated of my dear nephew, Lt Maurice Kelly's self-sacrificing act at Camp San Antonio. As the widow and mother of soldiers I realize the significance of this noble and soldier-like testimony to a brave man, and I am sure your gallant American Army will appreciate it, and learn that a heroic action is not confined to one age, but is a lesson for all time. Pray accept this very imperfect appreciation of your just and generous action.

I have the honor to be, Sir, your obedient servant,

May Bell-Kingsley

General Parker replied in part as follows:

We were all very fond of Lieutenant Kelly. I was present in the Camp at San Antonio when he was killed and attended his funeral. He was buried in the picturesque little national cemetery reserved for officers and men of the United States Army on the outskirts of San Antonio in the part reserved for officers. He was one of the first heroes of our military aviation service who lost their lives in the service of their country. He lost it in a heroic way and his memory is cherished among us. As commander of the Department of Texas, I was very glad to have the opportunity of naming this great aviation field of twelve thousand men, the largest I think in the United States, after Lieutenant Kelly.

The story of the plane in which Lt Kelly met his death is also very interesting. It was a Curtiss D Pusher, Type IV, Military, and the second plane purchased by the Army. The New York Times, October 11, 1953, printed the story of this plane told in a letter by the late General H. H. Arnold. It accounts crashes of Lt Walker, Lt Beck, Lt Kelly and several others, and the repeated rebuilding of the plane.

HEADQUARTERS AND MISCELLANEOUS UNITS

HEADQUARTERS AND MISCELLANEOUS UNITS

The San Antonio Air Materiel Area components combined in this book under the heading "Headquarters and Miscellaneous Units" have a very vital function to perform in support of the SAAMA mission.

The 2851st Air Base Wing is the host organization at Kelly AFB and provides facilities and services necessary to support Headquarters, SAAMA, and other Department of Defense activities located on the base. It is charged with maintaining the buildings and grounds and performing the "house keeping" duties for the organizations at Kelly. The 2851st Commander also has the responsibility for the operation of the Kelly airport system.

Functions of the Comptroller include budgeting, accounting, finance and data services. The Comptroller administers an annual funding program of approximately $1,200,000,000 and disburses some $240,000,000 annually. Within the Comptroller organization are the electronic computers used in processing a myriad of statistical and accounting transactions.

At SAAMA is the only Directorate of Special Weapons in the Air Materiel Command. This directorate provides management and a single point of contact for the nuclear ordnance commodity management system. It also furnishes Air Force-wide logistical support and technical assistance for assigned nuclear ordnance commodities.

The Personnel and Administration Office is responsible for the training, maintenance of records and all other actions connected with the administration of military and civilian personnel. In addition, the office is charged with the correspondence management, postal, printing, reproduction and publications management and distribution functions at SAAMA.

The Procurement and Production Directorate has two missions. Most important is the organization's role as a central buying agency for certain classes of supplies and services for use by the Air Force all over the world. Secondly, the directorate buys all supplies and services used exclusively in the operation of the base and its tenant organizations.

Another organization of importance is the Plans and Management Office, which provides SAAMA-wide management services in the functional areas of plans, programs, management engineering, manpower, organization, management analysis and equipment authorizations.

Other support-type activities are: the Inspector General's Office which performs the inspection function of the Command; the Staff Judge Advocate, who serves as legal advisor for the Command; the Quality Control Office, which assures the development and implementation of an effective quality control program within the area; the Safety Office, which is responsible for both flying and ground safety within SAAMA, and the Office of Information, which performs the community relations and public, internal and historical information functions for SAAMA.
