

17 TRW Input

The Training Standard of Excellence

17 TRW: SUMMARY

- Airmen arriving with discipline instilled and adaptive to changes in standards within the COVID environment
- Zero COVID positive cases coming from BMT
- Students are arriving with CACs instead of MFRs referencing CAC shortages

17 TRW: POSITIVES

- Airmen & Guardians are highly motivated and eager to learn
- Airmen & Guardians have flexibility and adaptability to changes in the environment
- We have seen minimal COVID-positive cases coming from BMT
- Airmen & Guardians are aware of SMART goals
- Airmen & Guardians have a grasp of nutrition and what they should be eating
- Airmen & Guardians demonstrate confidence participating in active learning activities/discussions
- Airmen & Guardians arriving to technical training have discipline upon arrival
- Students are arriving with CACs instead of MFRs referencing CAC shortages

17 TRW Input

The Training Standard of Excellence

17 TRW: CHALLENGES

GENERAL

- Ability to handle stress and harness it to performing under pressure
- Develop a growth mindset in all students
- Proper nutrition and hydration to handle physical and mental course stressors
- Minimal understanding of dress & appearance standards while not on duty
- Sense of entitlement among the members; simply do not follow lawful orders

MILITARY SKILLS

- Marching: varied results of core competencies such as marching in formation or facing movements
- Lack of understanding of customs and courtesies and dress and appearance
- Customs & Courtesies: recognition of officers or how to render salutes as well as improper addressing of officers and NCOs

17 TRW Input

The Training Standard of Excellence

17 TRW: CHALLENGES (cont)

ADMINISTRATIVE

- Airmen aren't released from BMT records therefore we cannot gain them
- Airmen do not understand reporting procedures
- Airmen arrive with incomplete Blues uniform sets (items not provided); Airmen do not understand how to properly wear uniform items IAW AFI requirements
- Airmen often arrive without receiving pay for the correct paygrade
- Members are not "ranking-up" accordingly, or having their documents loaded properly
- CSL issues to where member's certificates or CACs are not setup properly
- Numerous students currently enrolled in FIP; report only running twice during BMT

17 TRW Input

The Training Standard of Excellence

17 TRW: Other Comments

- Respect: Members should feel that there is a required sense of respect towards higher ranks
- Sleep: Emphasize the importance of sleep and its benefits
 - Technical training environments have a rigorous academic as well as practical objectives and Airmen must be disciplined to get proper amount of rest
- Stress Management: Incorporate stress reducing exercises (e.g., Yoga)
- Time Management: How to manage time to be successful
- Transportation: Bus schedule has been better then the air transportation in arriving on time
- Physical readiness: Struggle to maintain physical fitness within the first month
- The WHY: Instilling their WHY, understanding the AF WHY, how to achieve the WHY