Consider nominating exceptional students to the White Rope Program

JOINT BASE SAN ANTONIO-LACKLAND, Texas – Instructors with exceptional students should consider nominating them for the White Rope program, a chapel-based opportunity that strengthens leadership and sharpens professionalism.

While all technical training students must volunteer in some capacity throughout their education, Airmen in the White Rope program go above and beyond to support their classmates, assist with chapel activities and grow their own leadership capabilities.

“White Ropes quickly learn how to lead because they help guide and organize BMT [Basic Military Training] trainees who attend service on Sunday morning, even though they’re only a few weeks ahead of them in training,” said Capt. Daniel Morgan, a Chaplain at Joint Base San Antonio-Lackland. READ MORE
