Recommend 352 Field Men For Training Camps

Six Also Proposed for Immediate Commissions in Q. M. C.

97 for Machine Gun; 70 Go to Artillery

Board Picks 137 Candidates to Attend Infantry School Next Month

THREE hundred and fifty-eight enlisted men of Kelly Field have been recommended for commissions of for admission to Central Officers' and Quartermaster Training Camps by preliminary examining boards sitting in this camp. All Quartermaster Corps recommendations are subject to approval by a reviewing board at Washington, D. C.

Of this number, 137 have been recommended for training as infantry officers; 97 for the machine-gun school; 70 for the artillery school. The Quartermaster board has considered six candidates worthy of second lieutenantcies without further training. 54 men have been proposed for the Quartermaster training camp.

Applications for the camps are still open, and lists of other men recommended will be issued later.

Two important changes have been made during the last week relative to the admission of candidates to the Central Officers' Training Camps. The percentage of personnel has been increased from two to three per cent for the Infantry and no limit is placed on the number of candidates for the machine gun and artillery schools, so long as the candidates have the necessary qualifications.

Below is published a list of the men recommended for the Infantry, machine gun and artillery training camps from Kelly Field. While it does not follow that every one of these men will be called by September 15, the dearth of material at the camps throughout the country and the large number of officers needed for the huge army to be formed, makes it probable that practically the entire list will be used next month.

Each man will be given a physical examination before leaving the field and a copy of his physical condition forwarded with his service record. He will be examined again upon his arrival at training camp and in the event of his condition being below the necessary requirements, he will be transferred, in grade, to a replacement detachment. Men who were physically fit when they enlisted and whose eyes have a minimum of 20-70 in the left eye, and 20-40 in the right eye (correctable to normal by the use of lens), and normal color perception, have an excellent chance of passing, although a number of candidates who passed the flying pilots' examination were rejected.

Upon receipt of a requisition from the commanding officer of a Central Officers' Training Camp, the number of candidates required will be selected from the list below, transferred, in grade, to Replacement Troops, unassigned, and ordered to school. In the event of a surplus of men being left from the lists, the men retained will be sent upon receipt of the next order.

Owing to the splendid personnel of Kelly Field, the examining board was forced to use unusual care in the selection of the men and the list below represents the very best material in the Air Service. There are hundreds of other men who were rejected, not because they did not have the necessary requirements, but because it was necessary to choose the very best. Capt. Hayward H. Kendall, of the examining board, states that men who failed to pass will be given another opportunity and if they possess the necessary qualifications, will be placed on the next available list.

Men who graduate from the camps will be "Officer-candidates" and commissioned second lieutenants of the branch of service for which they have qualified. Misbehavior or inefficiency will cause a graduate to lose his rating.

Brought Field to Present Standard

Capt. C. R. Hickox Attains Majority; Is Transferred

New Commanding Officer Was in Command of Field Arcadia, Fla.

First Lieut. E. P. Rochester Will Succeed Former Executive Officer at Kelly Field.

CAPT. CHARLES R. HICKOX, Executive, Survey and Summary Court Officer of Kelly Field, has been commissioned a major in the Judge Advocate General's Department and ordered elsewhere. First Lieut. Ernest P. Rochester, judge advocate of the field, succeeds Major Hickox as Survey and Summary Court Officer and is transacting the duties of Executive Officer without the actual title.

Both present and former incumbents of the office entered the Army as enlisted men. Major Hickox enlisted during the Spanish-American War, serving in Troop A, United States Volunteers, 1898. He gained a second lieutenantcy in the 2nd United States Infantry in July, was mustered out in August, and resumed his practice as a lawyer in New York City until August, 1917, when he attended the officers' training camp at Plattsburg and graduated with a captaincy in the Aviation Section, Signal Corps, on November 8 last.

Lieut. Rochester enlisted in May, 1898, as a sergeant in Company A, 21st Kansas Volunteer Infantry, and was mustered out in December, 1898. He became a candidate at the officers' training camp, Fort Sheridan, in November last and graduated with the rank of first lieutenant in the Aviation Section, Signal Corps.

Appoint Officer to Supervise Engineers

Work of Several Fields to be Coordinated Under Direction of Capt. Sykes

Capt. George E. Sikes of Brooks Field has been appointed supervising engineer officer for a group of Air Service fields in this section of the Southern Department, which includes Kelly Field and Brooks Field. He will co-ordinate the work of the engineer departments in the fields under his supervision and, through him, the fields will be brought in closer touch with the authorities at Washington.

Among other things, Capt. Sikes will see that an equal proportionate distribution of equipment and material is made among the fields over which he has supervision.

Big Sport Meet Friday For Fliers

Another big athletic carnival will be held in the Flying Department Friday evening. A field and track meet and baseball games feature the sports from 5 to 7 p. m. Beginning at 7 o'clock, there will be a classy boxing and amusement program. The chief bout will be between "Texas" Tate and Harry Behm.

LIEUT.-COL. G. V. S. QUACKENBUSH, Commanding Officer of Kelly Field, has been promoted to the rank of colonel, Air Service (Military Aeronautics), and ordered to hold himself for transfer to another command. He is daily expecting travel orders, and is preparing to leave the field and San Antonio.

Col. James E. Fechet, Commanding Officer of Carlstrom Field, Arcadia, Fla., has been promoted to a Brigadier General and ordered to assume command of Kelly Field to succeed Col. Quackenbush, and is expected to arrive at any time.

Col. Quackenbush is one of the pioneer officers of Kelly Field. He has watched its development from a patch of mesquite to, at one time, the largest aviation training field in the world. He came to this field from Fort Sam Houston early in August last year and assumed command of the lower field, then known as the recruit camp, after which he was made commanding officer of the First Training Brigade. Under his direction, organization of the thousands of recruits received here during the winter and spring months was developed to perfection, and the scores of squadrons and detachments, here at that time, were organized and transferred without a hitch in the machinery of the brigade.

He remained as commanding officer of the brigade until February 16, last, when he succeeded Col. W. D. Chitty as commanding officer of the entire field.

Col. Quackenbush was commissioned a second lieutenant in the United States Volunteers in February, 1898, and remained with that command until 1901, when he was transferred to the 17th Infantry. In 1904, he was promoted to be a first lieutenant, and assigned to the 23rd Infantry, with which regiment he remained until November, 1914, when he was placed on the unassigned list. Col. Quackenbush was promoted to a captaincy on April 29, 1915, and again assigned to the 17th Infantry.

In November, 1916, he was attached to the 37th Infantry and placed on duty at Camp Wilson, now Camp Travis, and in March, 1917, became Intelligence Officer of the Laredo District. On the consolidation of the Del Rio and Eagle Fass Districts with the Laredo District, he was appointed District Adjutant under Brig.-Gen. John Ruckman, afterward Commanding General of the Southern Department. He remained in that capacity until Gen. Ruckman was promoted to the rank of major general, and then he was transferred to Fort Sam Houston as aide to the general.

On August 5, 1915, he was promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel, and assigned to Kelly Field.

During his term of service in the Army, Col. Quackenbush has served five years in the Philippines, part of that time under Gen. John J. Pershing, now Commanding General of the American Expeditionary Forces.

Mrs. Quackenbush, who has taken a great interest in all of her husband's work, as well as the Red Cross and other women's war activities, is expected to leave with her husband for the coast.

Orders to hold himself in readiness for transfer were received by Col. Quackenbush last Friday afternoon, and since that time, he and Mrs. Quackenbush have been busily engaged making preparations for their departure.

Candidates Are Examined For Balloon School

Preliminary Board Interviews 70 Men During Past Week.

Recommend Civilians For Air Commissions

Thirty-seven Soldiers Receive Orders for Ground School at Illinois University

Enlisted men in the air service who are physically fit and have the necessary educational qualifications are urged to make application for the balloon school. Men, 18 to 35 years old, who have a knowledge of map reading, map sketching, and photography, are especially desirable. They will receive further instruction along these subjects and will also be taught to direct artillery fire and the other duties of the balloonist on the firing line.

Candidates should also have training in mathematics and be able to take the examination required for flying pilots before the latter was raised. The physical requirements are virtually the same as for flying pilots with the exception of the equilibrium test which is not so severe.

70 Apply.

During the past week, about 70 applicants have been examined by the preliminary board and about 25 per cent rejected. Application blanks may be obtained at Room 12, Post Headquarters, and must be filled out in duplicate. The candidates will be examined every Tuesday.

The preliminary board is composed of Lieut. Fred J. White and Lieut. George D. Reidell, A. S. M. A., and Lieut. S. E. Mitchell, M. R. C.

A number of civilian instructors and enlisted men have been recommended for commissions by the examining board for flying pilots at Fort Sam Houston. T. J. Mathieu, of Kelly Field, has been recommended for a first lieutenantcy and W. E. Johnson and J. A. Croft, civilian flyers of Brook's Field, have been recommended for a captaincy and 1st lieutenantcy respectively. J. E. Mayl, of the 817th Aero Squadron, Fort Sam Houston, has been recommended for a second lieutenantcy.

The following men have been recommended by the examining board for ground school training and transferred to the University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.:

Gas Drill Is to Be Started Here Soon

Gas drill will be started at Kelly Field immediately. Lieut. Louis R. Sanders, officer in charge of the drill, has returned from Camp Stanley, where he took a short instructors' course. In all probability, the flying cadets of the Flying Department will be the first to take up the drill, though eventually every officer and man on the field will get it.

LIEUT. BARTLETT ON LEAVE.

Lieut. Frank M. Bartlett, officer in charge of flying, Flying Department, is on a ten-day leave of absence. He is visiting Austwell, Tex., and while there will inspect the proposed landing stations at Rockport and Goliad.

"Kelly" is Missing

"Kelly", a "$1,000" brown and white, male bulldog is the object of anxious search by the supply sergeant and other members of the 819th Aero Squadron.

He's the famous mutt that was raffled off at the time of the Red Cross celebration in Kelly Field last May, and has always been very contented at the quarters of the 819th, which won him. Last Monday night or Tuesday morning, however, he either tired of Kelly Field or was wickedly transferred elsewhere.

If you see him, turn him in.

Capt. Puckett is Field's Official Chaser of Flies

Capt. Carl Puckett, official "fly chaser" of the Kelly Field Flying Department, walked 303 miles during the month of July, trying to find a fly in the kitchens and mess halls of his "beat." His pedometer tells the tale.

Every day Capt. Puckett visits every kitchen and mess hall in the Flying Department, which means that he walks ten miles every day. If he saw a fly during the entire month, Capt. Puckett has no recollection of it now. The field is remarkably free from them, according to his statement.

This condition has been brought about by the constant warfare waged against flies by every mess sergeant, cook and "K. P." in the Flying Department, under Capt. Puckett's supervision. Traps and swatters are the weapons used in fighting flies, but eradication of breeding places has worked the worst hardship.

Capt. Puckett also serves as Herbert Hoover's right hand man in the Flying Department. It is a part of his business to check up the food wastage and to see that it is reduced to the minimum. Through the hearty co-operation of mess sergeants and cooks and the men themselves, food waste is negligible, and could hardly be further reduced, Capt. Puckett says.

The Flying Department's "official fly chaser" is the second oldest man at Kelly Field in point of service at this camp. He is outranked only by Capt. S. R. Evans. He has been at Kelly Field eleven months and has been in the sanitary inspection department since February 1.

Capt. Puckett was a practicing physician in Pryor, Okla., for thirteen years before he came into the army. He was physician for the State Orphans' Asylum for seven years and County Superintendent of Health three years.

BASEBALL CHALLENGE.

The Squadron H, Flying Department, baseball team has issued a challenge to any other organization club at Kelly Field. Arrangements for games may be made by communicating with Sgt. J. H. Farraday, manager, Record Room, Cadet Wing Headquarters, Flying Department.

13 Hun Aviators Killed.

Thirteen of German's leading aviators have been listed as missing in action since July 1, according to an official French report received at Washington on August 17. The aviators listed as missing and the number of allied planes they have been credited with bringing down are: Leo Wenhardt, 53; Menshokoff, 39; Bongartz and Buckler, 33 each; Billik, 31; Von Turchrek, 27; Kirchsteiner, 27; Wuesthoff, 26; Puetter, 25; Winisch, Fredericks and Pipphardt, 21 each; and Reinhardt, 20.

Member of French Mission Inspects E. M. T. D. Work

Major Henri Dourif Gives Advice to Fliers in Training

Major Henry Dourif, airman, and member of the French Aviation Mission at Washington, D. C., visited Kelly Field Monday and inspected the Enlisted Mechanics' Training Department and the Flying Department, collecting data from both organizations to be transmitted to the French government.

"Observation work is more important than pursuit scouting," said Major Dourif, in discussing the part of the flier at the front. "American fliers are under the impression that nothing else counts but pursuit work. From Allied airmen, under whom American aviators are serving, I have received news of the fine fliers Americans are. But they are all eager to fight aerial combats, and do not seem to realize that pursuit work is just an auxiliary to reconnaissance, which is the principal air duty."

The Enlisted Mechanics' Training Department was something new to the French major. He visited Kelly Field last November and was surprised at the great progress made since then.

Wonderful Progress Here.

"It is simply wonderful," he announced, after inspecting the schools. "The French government is very much interested in the American method of training expert mechanics."

Major Dourif has served as an observer with the French Air Service at the front. Before the war, he spent four years in America, and when hostilities started, he sailed immediately for France and joined his artillery unit, being a lieutenant.

Later, he was chosen to take part in organization work and came to America, when the United States entered the war. Since then he had returned to France and became a pilot. His work brought him in connection with the famous Stork Squadron.

Major Dourif has won the medal of the Legion of Honor, and also wears the silver insignia of the French pilot.

Is Guest Here.

Miss Lucille Terrell, sister of Capt. C. O. Terrell, of the Medical Corps, visited the flying Department this week. She was a guest at a dinner given in her honor at the Aviation Club.

Safe Behind RESISTAL EYETECTS

The Only Goggle Guaranteed Non-Shatterable

Approved by U. S. Bureau of Standards

Read how this Aviator's life was saved

"In a recent airplane fall at this field I was wearing a pair of your Resistal Goggles, which I am sending under separate cover. When the plane struck, my head was snapped sharply forward, striking my face across the rim of the cowl. Both lenses of my goggles were broken, but one side received much of the force of the blow, and the rim of the goggle was driven into my face. The lens on this side was badly broken, but none of the glass fell out of the rim, and I did not receive a scratch from any of it.

"The man flying with me received injuries which soon after resulted in his death. A blow fell across his goggles, which were also Resistal, that broke the lenses so badly that they resembled frostwork. The particles did not fall from the rims, however, and no injury was received from the glass cutting.

"Had I been wearing any but the strongest non-shatterable glasses I would unquestionably have lost my sight. Feeling this to be true, you can understand that it is difficult for me to express just how deeply grateful I feel toward Resistal for the protection it gave to me.

"In the great majority of airplane accidents, a blow is received in the face, which makes a safe goggle imperative. I know that you have it and shall recommend it at every opportunity I have."—(Signed by a Flying Cadet at Memphis, Tenn.—name on request.)

WE GUARANTEE RESISTAL EYETECTS will not destroy, reduce, distort or impair the vision in any way, no matter when, where or for what length of time they may be continually worn. Specifically, this guarantees that the wearer of Resistal Goggles will pass the Standard vision tests of the U. S. Aviator (Army or Navy) as well with RESISTAL EYETECTS as he may have without any goggles before his eyes.

Send to the Manufacturers, Strauss & Buegeleisen, 438 Broadway, New York City for U. S. Bureau of Standards' Reports and booklet about RESISTAL EYETECTS telling of many aviators' experiences.

Lieut. Lievre Leaves For Duty in France
Goes Back as Expert Flier to Fight German Airmen Over Old Home

Lieut. Joseph B. Lievre has been ordered back to his native country—France. He returns as one of the best fliers in the world to fight for "La Belle France."

It will be a homecoming for the Frenchman, for the man who has become famous for his wonderful stunt flying at Kelly Field, will visit his old folks in Nancy for the first time in years.

The Germans have bombed the old homeplace," he explained. "And now I will have a chance to pay them back."

The old familiar scarf without which he says he cannot fly became untied last Friday when he gave a final stunt exhibition, and drifted down to the top of the telephone building. Later Lieut. Lievre recovered it through Lieut. E. P. Rochester, judge advocate, who saw the garment fall and picked it up.

There is one consolation for the great flier. While looping and flying upside down over the battlefields, he will not earn any suspensions for what was termed reckless flying, or too near the ground here.

Lieut.-Col. H. C. Pratt Receives Promotion
Capt. Pickering of Brooks Field Promoted to Major

Lieut.-Col. H. C. Pratt, Commanding Officer of Brooks Field, has been promoted to the grade of Colonel. Col. Pratt arrived at Brooks Field from Call Field on Feb. 17, when the field was in its early state and it is due to his untiring efforts that the field has won such a splendid reputation.

Other promotions at Brooks Field include Capt. Loring Pickering, now adjutant at Brooks Field, and former Assistant Adjutant of the 1st Training Brigade, Kelly Field, promoted to be a major, and 2nd Lieut. Rene R. Studler, who has been made a 1st Lieutenant and assigned as officer in charge of flying.

Engineers To Draw Maps From Pictures

Capt. Calvin E. Griffin, E. R. C., and Lieut. Joseph W. Geary, Jr., E. R. C., have been assigned by Major General William L. Kenly to the Photographic Department at Kelly Field, to work with Lieut. J. H. O'Connell, officer in charge of the Aerial Photography Department, in mapping, from photographs, the airplane routes from Kelly Field to Waco and from Kelly Field to Houston.

Lieut. O'Connell recently received two cameras from Washington constructed especially for aerial photography. He has already tested them and started the actual mapping of the two aerial routes. From his pictures, the two engineer officers will draw their maps.

The Aerial Photography Department of Ellington Field is working in conjunction with Lieut. O'Connell in photographing the two routes.

A big exodus of major league baseball players either for some branch of Uncle Sam's service or to find jobs in essential industries is scheduled to take place right away. Many of them are getting under cover in shipyards and munition plants. Quite a few big leaguers, who are affected by the work or fight order, as it applies to those within the present draft, ages, are known to be on the lookout for jobs in "safe and sane" places.

Some of the players will not have to make a move until the season officially closes—that is, until after Labor Day. They already have made arrangements to go to work in essential industries, reporting after September 2.

Ty Cobb to Enlist.

Tyrus Raymond Cobb, of the Detroit Americans, made his farewell appearance at the Polo Grounds in New York last week, for the duration of the war at least. Kelly Field Man Interned.

Lieut. Don Ryon Harris of Arden, N. C., and James Monroe, a bomber, are interned in Holland for the duration of the war as a result of the engine of the airplane which Lieut. Harris was piloting being struck by German shrapnel over Bruges harbor, Belgium, recently. Neither Lieut. Harris nor his bomber were injured. They were flying at 13,000 feet when struck.

Lieut. Harris received his early training at Kelly Field. He was commissioned and sent to England early this year.

Snorting Cycle Cavorts After Straggling Steeds on Flying Field

Rounding up horses on the flying fields is the latest "recreation" assigned to motorcycle riders of the Kelly Field Military Police.

The steeds seem to have a peculiar liking for the camp grass and often sneak in via the wood-piles en route to the Flying Department. They did that last Monday—one of them committed the awful crime of trying to eat up Col. Quackenbush's private lawn—so the police decided the practice must stop. A lone motorcycle rider was commissioned to gather up the stragglers, and an exciting time he had ploughing over the bumps and at the same time keeping his eye on the ships descending on all sides.

However, he got them to the Post Corral. Now it will cost the owners money to get those horses.

KELLY FIELD SPORTS

Kelly Sluggers Submerge Much-Vaunted 304th Crew

Jack Harper Sent to the Showers by Kelly Field Bombers in Greatest Baseball Victory of Season—"Hook" Stringer Demonstrates Pitching Superiority

Everything a bleacher fan could expect in the national pastime was staged in the glorious Kelly Field 8 to 3 victory over the Fort Sam Houston 304th Repair Shop team last Wednesday.

There was a dashing batting rally from behind—by Kelly Field. There was the chasing of Handsome Jack Harper, the Mechanics star hurler, also by Kelly.

And there was a jubilant, much-prayed-for triumph, over the vaunted leaders of the Army League, the first since the organization of the League—all Kellymen.

The victory put Kelly Field into the running for the championship, after practically all the dopesters had handed the bunting to the Mechanics. But the Aviators had beaten the cocky 304th once before in the early part of the season, and knew they could do it again. They did.

It was a fighting team that went after the Mechanics' scalp and got it. Long before the disastrous sixth—for Ft. Sam Houston—the Kelly batters cracked Harper's offerings hard and far, only to hit in hard luck. A smashing wallop by Spreitzer in the second inning only was saved from a triple by a marvelous catch by Bertetti, centerfielder of the Mechanics.

The aerial gunnery attack was vicious in the sixth and the great Harper was bombed from the mound. It was unexpected and even took the Kelly supporters by surprise. "Hook" Stringer, the speedy Kelly lieutenant, served them up in great style, but because the breaks up to the sixth had been with the Quartermaster crowd, Kelly was two runs in the rear. Stringer was a trifle wild, but when his cross-fire ball was working and his curve ball hooking right, he had the heavy batters on the opposing team at his mercy. In the pinches, he tightened up in a way that kept the Mechanics hitting the thin air. It was Stringer's masterful exhibition at critical moments that did a whole lot to keep up the fighting spirit of the Kelly men.

With the game won, Stringer retired in favor of Bierman in the eighth inning.

Decisive Victory.

Five tallies on clean hits off the great Harper spelt the doom of the Ft. Sam Houston hopes. And then in the net inning, three more for Kelly proved to be plenty and the worse trimming the Mechanics yet have suffered.

The Kellymen gave a magnificent exhibition of backing up the fine work of Stringer. Nothing short of a brilliant triple play shows the flashing defense they made. This rare triple killing came in the second, with Stringer himself putting the fast play into motion.

A Triple Play.

Bertetti caught a fast ball to Stringer, who bent over and made a wonderful shoe-string catch. Both men were off the bases and did not realize what had happened. In a trice, Stringer had sent the ball to Fernandez, catching Knaupp. The flying second sacker snapped the pill to Spreitzer and Fairchild was the third out.

Ft. Sam Houston gained another run in the fourth, when Snyder drew a pass, stole second and cantered over the pan on Fairchild's second single. From then on Stringer came into his own and held the Mechanics.

The glorious sixth! That's when Kelly's bats got busy, and when Harper ceased to smile and became worried. Kelly staged the greatest batting rally against the powerful 304th troop they ever lived through. Harper hit Pep Fernandez. Gilroy singled. Brown laced another single to right, and Fernandez skipped over the plate. Spreitzer got into the party with another clean single, sending Gilroy home with the tying tally. The whole Mechanics infield gathered around Harper to discuss the situation, while Snyder sent an S. O. S. to Winters and Craig to warm up Chief Starr, the swatting Indian, was walked purposely and the bases loaded.

Richert made the first out when he grounded to Cotton Knaupp, who caught Brown at the plate. But Harm singled and Spreitzer and Starr raced across Stringer's grounder to Kraft retired Richert at home. On Snyder's low throw to second, Harm came dashing in, and tallied when the second baseman made a crazy chuck over Snyder's head.

Pack It Away.

Three more in the seventh for Kelly put the game on ice. Gilroy sprinted to first on an infield hit and stole second. A walk to Brown and a tremendous wallop "over the top" of the fence by Spreitzer cleared the sacks. Snyder had signalled the fielders to move back when Spreitzer arrived with his war club, but he forgot to tell them to move the fence, too. Lieut. Conner had the Kelly team keyed up to the game, and it was their wonderful fight that brought home the bacon. The Kelly infield played brilliantly. After the game, Kellymen paraded the up-town streets of San Antonio in celebration of their victory.

Fans on Edge Grand Finale

Army Baseball Supporters Anticipate Kelly-Repair Shop Clash

San Antonio impatiently awaits the sounding of the gong which will send Kelly Field and the 304th Repair Shop club from Fort Sam Houston into the big final and decisive clash at League Park one week from Sunday.

Never in the history of the city and the nearby camps has the interest been greater. At Kelly Field the soldiers are in a fighting spirit as the result of the sensational battle at League Park last Wednesday, when the Aviators came from behind and trimmed Jack Harper, the big Fort Sam Houston pitcher, in a sensational battling rally, while Hook Stringer was hurling tight ball against the Quartermaster club.

Winter, the tall, slender speed merchant of the Fort Sam Houston team, now is considered a pitching possibility in the final game, which Kelly Field must win in order to tie for the League lead. Winter was under contract to the New York Giants when he enlisted and worked against the Remounts on Sunday. They failed to do much with his delivery.

It is hardly probable that Jack Harper will be sent against the Aviators again. He has hurled four games against them this year and has an even break. On the other hand, Bierman is the likely choice of the Birdmen from the present dope, although Hook Stringer may be sent back, or even Cadreau used.

Kelly Backstop

JOE "RED" LYNCH

Sorrel-topped catcher of the Kelly Field baseball team who has played a consistent game all season for the Aviators. "Red" first saw the light 'o day in Pittsburgh, Pa., or rather made his initial attempt to distinguish said light, which is impossible in Pittsburgh, however. "Red" played semi-pro ball around the Smoky City before coming to Kelly Field. His ever-present sense of humor and gift o' gab from behind the plate has pulled the Kelly Field team together many times in a game. Lynch expects to leave soon for a machine gun training camp.

Indian Blanks 19th Infantry

Game With Travis is Travesty in Seventh. George Kelly Back

Kelly Field amply avenged its defeat at the hands of the 19th Infantry of Camp Travis two weeks ago, at League Park on Saturday. Chief Cadreau held the Doughboys to three hits one of them a scratch affair, while his mates combined hits with errors of commission and omission and amassed a total of 10 runs.

The Indian gunner never was in danger. On a couple of occasions the Infantrymen had men on second and first, one with none out, but each time Cadreau tightened and retired the next hitters in easy style. It was the third straight whitewash, the Indian has hurled, the others having been against the Remounts and the 37th Infantry, champions of the Border. The Aviators cinched the battle in the second inning when Spreitzer singled to left, made a clean steal of second, and scored when Starr's hot grounder to short got away from Sinclair.

The greatest feature of the game from the fan's point of view was the return of smiling George Kelly to the game. The former New York Giant played left field instead of shortstop which Wylanis has been holding down since the big star suffered blood poisoning in his right hand.

Bierman Soars Skyward and Brooks Field Cops

With Important Army League Game Stowed Away, Kelly Field Hurler Aviates and Brooks Tossers Win in Eighth

With an important Army League baseball game all sewed up for Kelly Field, Bierman, the Aviators' hurler, weakened in the eighth inning against Brooks Field Tuesday at League Park, while his team was leading, 5 to 4. With one down the Brooks Field warriors staged a belated rally and secured four runs.

Ehrlich pulled up at the initial sack on a Texas Leaguer that George Kelly let go. Kelly threw wildly to the infield and Ehrlich advanced to second. Bierman ticketed Allen Moser followed with a single, filling the sacks. Halligan sneaked one through second, scoring Ehrlich and Allen. Lefty May, former St. Louis Cardinal, slapped a slow roller, which Bierman threw wildly to first, allowing Moser and Halligan to tally. Bierman tightened up, but it was too late.

The loss of this game to Brooks Field puts an apparently fatal nick in Kelly Field's hopes for the Army League championship. Their only chance now lies in the 304th Repair Shop gang losing two games, which seems hardly probable. The loss of "Pep" Fernandez at second was felt seriously in Tuesday's game. "Pep" is a flying lieutenant and has been ordered overseas.

Up to the seventh, Bierman held Brooks Field helpless. In the seventh the victors garnered a run when May was passed to first and pilfered the succeeding station. He scored on Heaney's double.

Kelly Field started with a rush and secured two runs right off the bat. Wylanis doubled and advanced on Gilroy's sacrifice. He came home in Spreitzer's long sacrifice fly. Brown came through with a homer. In the third, a double by Bierman, followed by another two-sacker by Wylanis, scored the Kelly pitcher.

Kelly Field sent another run across in the fourth. Lynch landed on first on a fielder's choice. Bierman singled. Lynch tallied on a double by Wylanis—his third of the game.

With the bases filled in the third and no outs, Kelly Field failed to score. The bags were occupied again in the fifth with one down, but the Aviators could not connect.

50-50 Battle In Big Series

Chicago and Boston Present Strong Lineups for Baseball Classics

The Chicago Cubs and Boston Red Sox, likely contenders for the world's series title, will present a lineup as strong as that of any championship aggregation in a normal year, when they face each other in the annual baseball classic which starts Wednesday, September 4.

In a rough comparison of the teams, the Red Sox seems the stronger in the outfield. The Cubs have a slight edge in the infield. Chicago has the best of it behind the bat, as Bill Killifer is the best backstop in baseball and far superior to Wally Schang or Agnew. The pitching staffs are a stand-off. Ruth and Leonard, two south-paws, will be prominent for the Red Sox, while Chicago has two crack left handers in Vaughn and Tyler.

The breaks should decide this series either way.

SPEEDY RING CARD AT KELLY K. OF C.

Manila's Skill Gives Him Decision Over Mundel

Frankie Manila, 19th Infantry, Camp Travis, who claims the featherweight championship of the army, won the decision in his bout with Young Mundel, of the 52nd Field Artillery at the Knights of Columbus War Activities Building, Kelly Field, last Thursday evening. It was a fast four-round go, and both boys weighed in at 125 pounds. Manila proved more skillful, and won on points.

Gerymonte of the 304th Machine Shops, Fort Sam Houston, proved a whirlwind and knocked out Martell of the 19th Infantry, Camp Travis, in the first round. While it lasted the scrap was a hummer, both fighters tipping 135 pounds.

Percy Montez of the 304th Shops and Fantantz of Kelly Field exchanged punches for four rounds, Montez winning on points. Warren of the 19th Infantry made a mistake when he offered to meet any man from his weight, 146 to 200 pounds, for H. C. Behm, boxing instructor of the Flying Department, accepted the challenge and Warren, although game, was beaten.

In a four-round bout, Johnny Queno, 122, won from Costa of the Fort Sam Houston Motor Truck Division. Jerry Dalton, 400th Motor Truck group and John Reynolds, 19th Infantry, went four rounds without a decision.

Johnny Coulon, boxing instructor of Camp Travis, was referee, while Bud Goodwin, champion swimmer, officiated as timekeeper. J. Elmer Fox, head of the Knights of Columbus, Southern Department, arranged the snappy program.

CUBS CLINCH PENNANT

Chicago made sure of the National League pennant Sunday by defeating Brooklyn in the first game of a doubleheader. The Cubs probable opponent in the world's series will be Boston, which leads Cleveland and Washington by a small margin.

Athletic Meet A Big Success

Flying Department Men Enjoying Great Day of Sport—More Coming

A field day for the cadets, topped off with a snappy boxing card, marked Friday's athletic activities at the Flying Department. It was the initial field day for the cadets, and the spirit and competition promises keen events in the future when these meets will be regular monthly affairs.

The boxing and wrestling card gave an exciting finish to the day's sport. H. C. Behm, boxing instructor of the cadets, scored his second knockout in two successive nights when he forced M. Swanger, of the Enlisted Mechanics Training Department to quit after two and a half rounds of fast milling.

Another championship contest was staged when R. F. Sherburne of the Cadet Wing, who claims title to the wrestling championship of the Southern Department, met Grappling Martin, of Camp John Wise in a 15-minute bout. Neither wrestler could gain a fall, although Sherburne exhibited the better work. Martin was satisfied to remain on the defensive.

Willie Ames won from Young Cavoretta on points after a fast, quick action bout. They weighed in at 135 and the loser requested another chance at his lightning opponent. Fighting Hartman and Sailor Ross mixed it up in great shape, and Hartman held the tar to a draw, although he conceded fifteen pounds to his opponent. Hartman stripped to 135 and Ross to 150. Murray and Woodbridge, both of Aero Squadron B, clashed at 140 pounds for a four-round draw. Bassett and Hill, both cadets, mixed it up in the opening bout, weighing in at 140.

Y. M. C. A. Physical Director G. R. Simpson refereed the wrestling, while Billy Rodeneck, boxing instructor, officiated in the boxing ring. Bud Goodwin, champion swimmer, was timekeeper.

The meet brought out competitors from Barracks 35, 52 and 54.

Lieut. Harold H. Robertson and Lieut. Earl McAnaney, athletic officers of the Flying Department, arranged the program. Summaries: 50-yard dash: won by Ross, 52; Sullivan, 52, second; Muir, 35, third. Time: 5 4-5 seconds.

100-yard dash: won by Sullivan, 52; Ross, 52, second; Time: 11 2-5 seconds.

Progressive broad jump: (15 from each barracks competing, total distance covered deciding) won by 54; 35, second; 52, third.

Tug of war: (3 minute pull between 35 and 52) won by 35.

Relay race: (18 from each barracks) won by 52; 54 second; 35, third.

We will be open Saturday till 6 P. M. All day next Monday for the convenience of Kelly Field Officers and men. We invite you to come over and open an account with us. FIRST STATE BANK, South San Antonio.

COTTON MAYFIELD BESTS DALLAS PUG

Kelly Field Fighter Stops Pride of Camp Dick

Special to The Eagle. Dallas, Aug. 23—Amidst the cheers of thousands of fans, Battling Buxton, the pride of Camp Dick was presented with a handsome loving cup tonight just previous to his four-round clash with "Cotton" Mayfield from Kelly Field. The local lad was going strong for the past three weeks and had won six straight victories.

Twice during the second round did Buxton fall to the mat before the Kelly Field lad but each time he demonstrated his remarkable stamina. Buxton fought wildly in the third to stem the onslaught but he never had a chance to put his opponent on the defensive. The fourth was a viciously fought affair and Buxton took some terrible punishment at the hands of his light-haired foe. Mayfield had him groggy and he went into a clinch as the final bell rang.

FORT SAM DOWNS BROOKS

In last Wednesday's Army League games, Fort Sam Houston, with Harper on the mound, downed the Brooks Field team, 5 to 0. Jake May pitched a good game for the losers, but his teammates failed to back him up in the pinches. Camp Wise defeated Camp Stanley 4 to 0. The Balloonists scored two runs in the sixth and another pair in the eighth.

"E" Squadron Beats "G" Aggregation

Sgt. Chatelain Hurls Flying Department Team to Easy Victory

Squadron "E" team defeated the Squadron "G" nine in the Flying department 5 to 2 last Thursday.

The pitching of Sgt. Chatelain for "E" Squadron was a feature. Sgt. Chatelain was never in danger, forcing 13 batters to take the shut-out route. Smith, pitcher for Squadron "G" did well, but was outgeneraled by his opponent.

Both Squadrons furnished a formidable array of rooters. After the game, Squadron "E" turned out and gave a big tin-pan parade through the lower division of the Flying Department.

The score by innings:
"E" Squadron 0 0 3 1 0 1 0-5 7 3

Joe" Razor; indestructible Trench Mirror fitted in pocket in lid; Shaving Brush and Stick Gillette Shaving Soap in nickel-plated holders; two Blade Boxes; 12 double-edged Gillette Blades $7 (24 Shaving Edges).

The most practical of men is the fighting man

When it comes to razors, the fighting man wants his Gillette.

It saves him space. It saves him weight. It makes his shaving clean, quick, safe. It is the razor used by his bunkie and his messmates—by his comrades under all the flags of the Allied Nations.

The Gillette is the Service Razor the world over.

Have you seen the new Gillette sets specially made for the fighting man? Two of them are illustrated on this page. They were designed by members of the Gillette Organization in the Service—men who know what the fighting man is up against.

Simple and compact, fit the pack, the pocket or the ditty box. No stropps or hones to clutter up the kit. Blades always sharp, always ready. No Stropping—No Honing. When a man wants new Blades he can get them in any Post Exchange, Ship's Canteen, or Y. M. C. A. Hut, here in America or overseas.

Our Paris Office carries stocks—is constantly supplying the American Expeditionary Forces. Gillette Safety Razors and Blades on sale everywhere in France, England, Italy and the Eastern battle fronts.

Here's the Way to Get 100% Efficiency Out of Your Gillette

Try this when you shave tomorrow morning. Lather the beard thoroughly, and rub well in—that's essential with any shave.

Put in a new blade and screw the handle down tight. If you want a specially close shave, unscrew the handle a part turn.

Hold the razor naturally and easily, and tilt the handle so you can just feel the blade engage the beard.

Then shave with short slanting strokes. It doesn't require any brute force to shave with a Gillette—the razor does the work.

Brooks Field

(Inter-Camp News)
(Special to The Eagle)

Brooks Field, Aug. 29.—Owing to increased facilities at Brooks' Field it will be allowed 35 candidate officer flyers instead of 25. The candidates will study the Gosport system which the Brook's Field officers claim is the ideal system of teaching. Up to last week, 152 instructors had been graduated and are now teaching at other camps.

Capt. George Sykes, district engineer officer, whose headquarters are at Brooks' Field, has left to make an inspection of Ellington Field, Houston.

Lieut. Santiago Campuzana, a Cuban officer of the French army, who has been studying the Gosport system at Brooks' Field, has returned from leave of absence.

Every officer at Brooks' Field has now received three lectures on gas defense, history of gas attack, and preventives and three drills in the use of the gas masks. Officers were required to take a written examination and those who failed to

Aviation Club Plans Many Improvements

Barber Shop to be Installed. Facilities for Members Only

Extensive improvements are planned for the Aviation Club in the Flying Department. At the same time, the Board of Governors has made a ruling that privileges of the club are to be extended only to officers who are members. This restriction applies to the Friday evening dancing.

One new pool table has already been installed and plans are being made for a complete redecoration of the interior. A barber shop is to be added to the club building. At present there is no barber shop in the Flying Department except in some of the squadrons.

pass repeated the course. The officers will now instruct the men under their command.

Every man on the field must now take a two-hour period of infantry drill each week. 150 service rifles have been received to be used in instructing the men.

Lieut.-Col. Claggett To Return to Field

Will Succeed to the Command of the Flying Department Here

Lieut.-Col. Frank M. Andrews, Commanding Officer, Flying Department, has been transferred for duty elsewhere.

Major L. G. Heffernan, who succeeded Lieut.-Col. Andrews in the Flying Department, is also under orders to leave the field.

Major Heffernan will be succeeded as Commanding Officer by Lieut.-Col. Henry B. Claggett, who, as a major, was Commanding Officer of the Recruit Division, First Training Brigade, here, from October 23, 1917 to May 8, 1918. Since leaving here, Col. Claggett has been taking a course in flying at Rockwell Field, San Diego, Cal., and has qualified as a Junior Military Aviator.

Doesn't it make you mad when someone says: "Well, so long, ole boy, don't take any wooden money and STAY SOBER."

New "Y" Building Is Under Construction

Will Be First in Country to Be Used Both by Officers and Men

A new Y. M. C. A. building which will serve the men in the squadron along Frio Road, those in the school of Bakers and Cooks and the warehouse men, is being constructed in front of the Post Exchange and almost directly across the road from Post Headquarters.

The incorporation in the plans of a separate wing for officers will make this building the only of its kind in the country. It will be built to accommodate a larger number of officers and men than the other buildings and to also permit of conducting more classes at one time.

The building will be of two stories. The second story will not only furnish more class room, but also a gallery in the auditorium for the special use of officers. When this building is complete, it will serve a part of the field not directly reached by the Y. M. C. A. heretofore.

Enlisted Men Put Cadet School on Efficient Base

With Limited Equipment But Plenty of Enthusiasm, Instructors Accomplish Wonders in Training Future Flying Officers

To become a flier of the first quality at the front four subjects must be acquired, theoretically and practically. They are: the airplane itself, the airplane motor, gunnery and radio. Of the four probably none is more important than the airplane motor.

As cadets, the fliers who receive their commissions at Kelly Field are given thorough instruction in all four subjects. Particularly thorough, however, is the course in airplane motors and this division of the cadet school at Kelly Field has already won a nation-wide reputation.

The most remarkable feature of this division of the cadet school course is that it was placed on its present high plane of efficiency almost entirely through the untiring efforts of enlisted men. These men, the instructors in airplane engines, began their work several months ago with practically no equipment and with no way of giving practical instruction.

They obtained some old motors that had been consigned to the scrap heap. But since the instructors are motor experts the discarded engines were soon running as smoothly as though new.

Then theoretical instruction was followed by practical experience with motors and the course which is now taught in the Aeronautical Engine Department was evolved. The cadet or student officer, finishing his theoretical instruction, which itself is merely a detailed review of the course in ground school, is sent to the blocks for practical instruction.

Learn Theory of Ignition.

After learning the theory of ignition, the student goes to a motor in which the ignition has been completely though systematically wrecked by the instructors. He works with this motor until he has repaired the ignition system. Then he goes to another motor in which the carburetor has been tampered with until it performs none of its functions. The student works with this motor until the carburetor is repaired and he has learned just how to adjust the carburetor to get the most efficient results. In this manner, the student goes from one motor to another, learning from actually doing the work, just how to make the necessary repairs and adjustments. The final test is given on a motor in which every part has been placed in complete disorder.

This branch of the school is soon to be one of the best equipped in the field. A short time ago, when Lieut. O. W. Noel was transferred to Austin, Lieut. Armand V. E. Smith was placed in charge of the department. He at once sent a request to Washington for several thousand dollars worth of new equipment, including Liberty motors and other makes which are being used on the Western front.

Non-Com Chief Instructor.

As non-commissioned officer, or chief instructor, in charge of the Aeronautical Engine Department, Master Signal Electrician Aviation Mechanician Royal G. Sherburne is personally largely responsible for the invaluable work done by the entire corps. He is a graduate of the Maine Central Institute, Preparatory Scientific, and of the Bliss School of Electrical Engineering, Washington, D. C. He was connected with the engineering department of the Splittorf Electrical Company of Newark, N. J., prior to his enlistment August 15, 1917. He has been at Kelly Field since August 24, 1917, and has been an instructor in the Aeronautical Engine Department since November 15, 1917. In charge of theoretical instruction, is Master Signal Electrician, Aviation Mechanician Dale Potter. Before enlisting he had seen practical experience with the Peerless Motor Company, as tester, and in the service departments of the Packard, National and Paige Automobile Companies and for a time was in charge of the service department of the Willys-Overland Company of Seattle, Wash.

Master Signal Electrician, Aviation Mechanician James C. DePue, instructor in charge of block work, was connected with the Scranton Electric Company of Scranton, Pa., before his enlistment in New York December 4.

Master Signal Electrician Maurice Shively, who has been an instructor since November 15 until a short time ago when he was sent to an officers' training camp, was formerly an instructor in the Oklahoma Automobile School at Oklahoma City.

Worked in Ford Plant.

Master Signal Electrician Sam H. Savage, assistant instructor in charge of block work, saw nineteen months experience in the assembly and repair departments of the Ford Motor Car Company, and, prior to that he was a foreman in the motor repair shops at Houston, Texas. He enlisted August 4, 1917, and was assigned to Cadet Wing as an instructor in November.

Master Signal Electrician Earl S. Webb was in the automobile business in North Carolina for six years. For a year after his enlistment he served as a "trouble shooter" in the Field and Hangar Department of the Kelly Field Flying Department.

Sgt. Donald G. Rowe, another of the instructors, has received a special course of instruction in engines with the Cadillac Motor Car Company since his enlistment, August 1, 1917. Since his return he has been one of the most efficient instructors in the Aeronautical Engine Department.

Sgt. First Class John A. Sutton, instructor in "trouble shooting," was in the Navy Department at Washington as chief of division for three years prior to his enlistment, handling all secret codes in and out of the Department. He served as a crew chief in the Engine Overhaul Department for some time prior to his assignment as instructor in Cadet Wing School.

Magneto Expert.

Sgt. First Class Earl McCrory was sent to Buffalo, N. Y., magneto school for a special course of instruction before being assigned to Cadet Wing as an instructor. He was connected with the San Joaquin Light and Power company, prior to his enlistment December 3, 1917.

Sgt. J. W. McGeer, Sgt. B. B. King, Sgt. Hugh Gerner, Jr., and Pvt. F. M. McShirley, the latter of whom has been connected with the Aeronautical Engine Department less than three months, have all had long and varied experience with motors in civil life and have contributed largely to the efficient working of the Aeronautical Engine Department.

With the single exception of Master Signal Electrician Sherburne, none of this corps of instructors held a higher rating than that of corporal when they were assigned to the school. Their advancement came as the result of valuable service rendered and constant study on the part of the instructors.

Major Deuel at Waco.

Major Thorne Deuel, former executive officer of the Flying Department, who left Kelly Field to become commanding officer of Taliaferro Field, Fort Worth, Tex., has been assigned as commanding officer of Rich Field, Waco, Tex.

May, St. Louis Hurler With Brooks Field

Jake May, former hurler for the St. Louis Cardinals, has joined the Air Service, and now is pitching for the Brooks Field Club in the Army League. The surprise was sprung in the Brooks-Remounts game when May went to the mound unheralded.

Germans Lose in Air.

Germany is losing steadily and heavily in the air on all fronts and it appears only a matter of weeks before the Allies will have complete mastery of the air. It is obvious that to maintain her battle squadrons at effective strength and at the same time to defend her many vulnerable positions behind the lines is already beyond the power of Germany.

LEONARD-LEWIS BOUT

Another bout of national interest is about to be consummated for decision in New Jersey within the next few weeks. It is between World's Lightweight Champion Benny Leonard and World's Welterweight Champion Ted (Kid) Lewis. Jack Curley will promote the bout.

Capt. and Mrs. C. O. Terrell gave a dinner for six at the Aviation Club Friday evening. The guests were Miss Lucille Terrell, Miss Helen Leslie and Lieut. and Mrs. W. R. Becker.

CADET TAKES UP SHIP IN FIRST SOLO FLIGHT

Feels lonesome and begins to think how he will get down but makes perfect landing, so instructor orders him up into air again.

By Private
Emmanuel Diamond

"TAKE it around yourself now." Out of the front seat the instructor jumped and the flying cadet was left alone. He was about to make his first solo flight. It was up to himself, now. No longer would the confidence inspiring instructor be there. No longer could he feel that if he made a mistake, the instructor would help him.

Mechanically, without realizing he was going to make a risky trip alone, the cadet "gave her the gun," and soon was sailing up, up, up. Instinctively he banked and headed around the course as he had done so often with the dual stage instructor.

Then he felt lonesome. He missed the figure in front. So he became exceedingly cautious. Close to his course he kept. This time he took infinite care in banking, making a wide safe turn.

Concentrating on handling the ship perfectly, the cadet forgot it was his first solo. He had too much to think about running the ship. A feeling of confidence inspired him when he thought that here he was on his first solo, the big machine answering his slightest pressures. He was piloting it—alone!

Thinks of Landing.

Surprise and elation, different from his first joy ride with another pilot, he felt for he was exhilarated with the glory of being in the air himself and feeling "there was nothing to it." Too soon was this wonderful sensation to be lost. Around the course he had flown, and now had to land. The mere thought of landing was nerve-racking. But it must be done.

He was not worried whether he would make what the nurse would agree was not a "happy landing," but would he injure the ship? Hurting himself was not considered. But the ship! The slightest damage would mean a bawling out.

Rather unwilling was he to descend. He had doubts. Finally "here goes" he decided as he throttled the engine and stuck her nose to the ground. The earth rushed up, and then along the ground he shot evenly and landed lightly.

With a breath of relief he looked to the watching instructor. He had done it! He had run the plane alone, and landed safely. What a thrill of satisfaction.

He expected the instructor to rush over and praise him. Instead he got the signal to go up again. Well, he would show him. He had done it once and could do it again.

Away he sped. This time he was more self-conscious and nervous. Gone was the joy of mastery. That feeling of being alone prevailed. Could he land it alright again? He did. Then that thrill of assurance came over him. He could fly!

Proud as an Ace.

HE found the plane flew better with that extra weight off. He also got the feel of the ship—and felt it was a part of his every movement. Stepping out of the ship, he walked on air. He was puffed up over his feat, and as proud as an ace.

That first landing is one he always remembers. It is one of his best for he admits he took more care with it than any other. It is the one that sticks in his mind.

Now that he has flown alone and proved to the instructors he can manage the ship by himself, the cadet advances to the First Solo A stage. Here he gets practice running a ship. Laid out over seven square miles of countryside are courses which the new flier, after perfecting landings, makes an endless stream of eights.

Near each of the courses is some adjacent landing field, to which the aviator may glide in case of engine trouble. All of these courses are well separated and allow freedom from interference.

Arriving at this stage, the cadet is taken up by an instructor and shown the courses and country. Before starting, the instructor rapidly explains the features of the landscape. On the ground with a stick he marks roughly the landmarks.

"We start here. First we fly around the short course here. Then we sail in the direction of San Antonio, and from the center of the city, you will see a column of smoke from a factory. Beyond the town here is Our Lady of the Lake school. Northward lies St. Louis college. In between is a series of fan-shaped roads.

"This is the Castroville Road, and this the Acme. Over there you will notice Medina Dam. That's all."

So the cadet learns to observe. While in the air, all these distinguishing marks loom up, and he finds no trouble seeing them, for they are the features of the surrounding country.

Group of Irregular Boxes.

San Antonio is a large group of jumbled, irregular boxes. The two schools rise up austerely. The fan-shaped roads are a queer series of chalk marks radiating from a central point criss-crossed by circular lines. Smoke rises in the east in a lazy haze. Medina Dam gleams in the bright sunlight.

Over one of the courses they begin making a series of eights. Around one pylon they turn and then cut across and make an opposite turn around the other pylon.

Back again they go, and the picture of a slow stream of water flowing into a square of shimmering water of a reservoir and the peculiar stubby cows and low-laying shacks of a ranch stamp themselves indelibly upon the cadet's mind. He is glad to head off the course and start for the Lady of the Lake school. Over that they sail, and the building dwindles into the ground as they ride over it. They head for St. Louis College and at a high altitude they fly between other eight courses.

They see other fliers grinding off those interminable eights, the machines below them appearing to skim along the ground. Their plane gets into a spin, on purpose of course, and the ground revolves and moves toward them. Dots become trees, fields that looked smooth, grow into acres of swaying mesquite.

Down they spin, and then straighten out. Then a neat glide, a sail at a low altitude and then they land and taxi to the white chalk mark.

"In making eights," explained Lieut. James H. Maupin, in charge of the primary solo stage, "the cadet learns the fundamentals of flying. He makes left and right turns and must allow for drift. It comes to him while making eights that flying means proper co-ordination of rudder and stick controls."

When assigned to a course, the cadet makes a series of eights, and at the end of each set comes in for a landing to break the monotony. In alighting, he practices coming down within certain limits so as to be able to land in a smaller field if necessary.

Great event in life of cadet as he "gives her the gun" for the first time and feels the boat soar over barracks and hangars at his slightest touch.

FLYING courtesy, watching out for other planes, is taught him. He flies out of the field at a low altitude and sails on a definite course. All ships going out of the field and coming in sail at the same low level so as to have a view of all ships about.

All the eight courses are in clear view of the tower from where the instructors can watch. Occasionally the teachers use field glasses. The instructor also hops in with the cadet and watches him grind off eights. After his work shows sufficient practice in turns and good landings, the cadet is ready for more advanced solo work. By this time he understands what the instructor wants him to do, and begins to absorb flying knowledge which only comes after experience.

"Aw, eights," sighs the cadet. "I'd rather do them with a loop at each end."

He thinks he is a regular flier now.

Football Team Journeyed to Australia

Corp. Jay Dwiggins
With All-American 15
in 1909 Which Toured Antipodes

Every follower of football knows that every year Walter Camp picked an All-American team, but that the players never got together. More often than not the eleven champions never set eyes upon more than six of their fellow members on the mythical organization.

That is why it will surprise many to learn that in 1909 an all-American football team composed of college men played eleven games in Australia and New Zealand against the crack Rugby teams of the Antipodes. The international contests were not the so-called American game, but the old English game of Rugby which calls for fifteen men on a side rather than eleven as in inter-collegiate contests in the United States.

Jay Dwiggins, Football Captain.

A Kelly Field soldier, Chauffeur Jay Dwiggins of the 145th Aero Squadron, and also two-twelfths of the Syncopated Sextette, was full back on the team which left Seattle, Washington, in May, 1909, for the other side of the world. Dwiggins was captain of the University of California Rugby team and when college men from California, Santa Clara, Stanford, and Nevada Universities were picked to make up an all-star fifteen to tour Australia, he was among the first to be selected.

The liner which carried them, stopped at Honolulu, Fanning Island, and the Fiji Islands before arriving three weeks later at Sidney, Australia. The Americans were received there with open arms. The Australians were pleased that the men from the Pacific Coast had taken up a game which they had played from earliest boyhood.

Sidney papers ran pictures of the men and columns of description. The Lord Mayor welcomed the youths. The townspeople wined them and dined them and entertained them every minute of their stay. Then the Australian teams took the Yankees out on the playing field and soundly licked them at Rugby. But the "Yanks" in return, tore the shirts off their backs at baseball by about 45 to 3. The Australian fielders disdained to run after the ball; they merely walked.

Stores were decorated with the American flags. The Australians are proud of their natural advantage and just as a Californian asks "How do you like the climate?" so the Sidney residents inquired of the visitors "Say Yank, 'ow do you like our 'arbor? Big signs all over the city bore the question. And the Yanks answered, "It is the best in the world." Then the town was theirs.

Peg-Top Trousers.

The Yanks were marked wherever they went about the city. Their "rah-rah" clothes of the latest Kollege Kuttenheimer Spring and Summer of 1909, models—you remember the peg-top trousers—their tan button shoes with the large bulldog toe (keen, "knock-em-dead" stuff then), their sweaters, their burning bright hat bands, the absence of vests, and their slang took the town by storm. There raiment was strongly in contrast with the skin tight English suits of the Australians. They stood out like a headlight of a Buick on Frío Road at 3 a. m. on a dark morning.

Bar-maids went into paroxysms of laughter at the funny looking "coves" from the states, but they never refused to go out with these young "swankers" from America, even though they did laugh at them.

The California youths fell in love with Australia and it is no exaggeration to say that the love was returned. The men of both places are sportsmen to a high degree.

They have many sports in common, boxing, swimming, tennis, golf, running an other track and field sports, hunting and of late years, baseball. Storekeepers were loathe to accept the money of the Americans. At the big game between Australia

Comparing the Girl of San Antonio With Her Sister From New York City

"Big-town" Jane Lets You Make up Dance Program But Not the Texas Girl

The San Antonio girl is a paradox. Compared with her sister of New York City, whom she most closely represents she is a puzzle even to the most blase and sophisticated male. In fact, she is in a class by herself. She is not typical of the south nor the west, but is combined into a happy medium of the two. The great majority are daughters of ranchers or oil men. She is not of the old Southern families and contact with tourists has given her certain mannerisms which combine the compass points of the country.

She is independent enough to alight from a car without assistance from her companion and insists that she make up her own dance program. The girl from Manhattan would hold a car ten minutes to allow her escort to assist her and is satisfied to permit him to arrange her dance order.

It is not that the San Antonio girl has decided that the sense of chivalry is gone. A flash now and then of the "clinging vine" temperament puzzles her male companion. She has a delightful habit of clinging to her friend's arm and holding his hand at the same time. The New York belle likes to stride beside her companion and expects his assistance only over rough roads or stepping to and from a curb.

New York Girl is Witty. Credulous beyond belief and slow to see the point of a story, the Texas girl appears backward compared to her alert northern sister. Yet her combined southern drawl and western laconism is a point in her favor against the almost sharp wit of Father Knickerbocker's daughters.

She is southerner enough to abhor the cliff dwelling apartments which the Northern girl calls "spiffy" or "comfy" and her future home is one of broad acres and not an expensive apartment along the Drive. She is inclined to believe that an old family tree will shade the glare of indiscretion, cannot quite agree with her northern sister in admiring the man who rises from Hell's Kitchen to the Hall of Fame. It took her a long, long, time to realize that it was socially correct to be seen with an enlisted man. Her northern sister set her an example in this and as soon as she realized that it was "being done," she broke away from her "officers only" rule. It may have taken the drafting of her brothers and sweethearts to bring about the revolution, but it is none the less sincere.

"We've had boobs around here before but you sure take the hand-painted tooth brush. When you're sent out to do eights, you're supposed to stay on your course, don't use the convent for one turn and the San Antonio City Hall for the other. Also, if you can't do a bank without getting into a spin, you'd better come in and ask for the ambulance. Always remember, these ships cost money, while Camp Dick is full of clowns like you. Now go out and do some more eights, and say—keep away from that swimming tank at the convent."

"Say, if your brains were grease, there wouldn't be enough to lubricate the eye of a needle. It's a wonder the mechanics haven't had you chasing around here looking for the dihedral wrench. Here we go to great pains to describe the route to Hondo for you, and you have a nice little map in front of you, and what do you do but end up in Austin! Ye gods, if you were ever sent to bomb Berlin all of London would have to take to their cellars. I suppose you landed at some country village and gave all the dames a treat, showed them a regular aviator, leather coat and all. Just for that you can go on the bench for a couple of weeks. Got a cigarette? Thanks. One week on the bench will be enough. No thanks, I don't smoke cigars."

"Say, whoever told you you could fly? Here we're up for an hour and you never got nearer than half a mile to the formation. Do you think you learned anything jazzing around like that? Do you know how much that little ride of yours cost the government? Just about two hundred dollars, that's four liberty bonds you've wasted, I got some Liberty bonds, too, and I don't intend to have you waste them for me. Just remember every five minutes you're up costs Uncle Sam sixteen and two-thirds dollars, every minute costs him three dollars and a half, every second costs—etc.—etc."

"Was that an eight you were doing out there or an imitation of a pretzel. When you go into a bank, take off your rudder and don't wear all the varnish off your stick, you had your tail going up and down like a fish, we're not particular about taking up another collection for flowers, and besides the ambulance has a flat tire. Keep away from the other eight courses, go around 'em, we don't want to have to wipe you off of the Mesquite. Watch your step, I've got some weeds that need pulling and the first man on the bench gets the job."—(V. D. S.)

Soldiers Must Not Carry Gold Abroad

Officers and enlisted men going overseas must not take with them United States gold, currency, or checks drawn on the Treasurer of the United States. An official bulletin states that many soldiers and militarized civilians are not observing the embargo on gold.

Money, the bulletin adds, should be carried in the form of "service checks, travelers' checks, or letters of credit." The "service checks" are issued by American banks with branches in Paris, France. They are obtainable at all concentration camps and ports of embarkation and are payable on the other side in francs or pounds.

Another interesting game played in Sidney was against the Mauri native fifteen. These aboriginals are wonderful specimen of manhood, but they had their hands full trouncing the Californians.

Played All Blacks.
Other places visited were Auckland, Christ Church, Wellington, Dunedin, and the Rotorua regions in the interior. In New Zealand the Yankees played the famous All-Blacks who toured England in 1905 and defeated the best in the British Isles. The American team played a creditable game. Everywhere the Americans were welcomed.

Dwiggins says that the most interesting place was Dunedin which is a farming town composed of Chinamen and Scotchmen. The Orientals take names like MacGregor or MacIntosh for business purposes. The climate of the town is similar to foggy sections of Scotland. The girls have beautiful complexions and are noted for their beauty of form. They participate in sports from earliest girlhood. Corsets are not for sale in the town at all. The American youths were showered with every attention at this delightful city in the sheep-raising and gold mining district.

The team arrived back in San Francisco, August 27, 1909. Of 11 games played they had won three, but then what chance would an English baseball team have against George Kelly's baseball club. More than 90 per cent of the players on the American and Dustmen teams are in the great war. Many of the Australians have fallen.

Almost the entire American team is in the United States army.

Little did the light-hearted sport loving athletes in 1909 dream that a decade later they would be shoulder to shoulder fighting a common foe, if for no other reason than preservation of clean, gentlemanly, out-door sports.

New Institution's Well Equipped—A Credit to Balloon School

The new field hospital at Camp John Wise will be formally opened September 1 with appropriate ceremonies. The program will include a concert by the new camp band and speeches by camp officers and leading citizens and physicians of San Antonio. The hospital is equipped with every known modern device and its erection was personally supervised by Capt. Phillip J. Lipsett, Post Surgeon. Four wards consisting of the general, surgical, isolation, and officers, compose the hospital. It also has a dental room with full equipment. It has a capacity of 60 patients.

The Girl of San Antonio and New York City

She delves into social reform now and then, but is delightfully ignorant of national and local political issues. The Riverside girl knows her ward leader and the representative from every district in the city and is even more politically inclined since the adoption of woman suffrage in the Empire state.

There is one big factor in common with the girl from San Antonio and Riverside Drive—neither one of them knows how to cook. But both love to dance.

The New York girl is strong for jazz. The San Antonio girl, especially as represented on the hotel roof gardens are in their seventh heaven of delight when gliding through the dreamy waltz. One girl is full of pep, vivacious and "rarin' to go," but the San Antonio girl sort of naturally just nestles into your arms and stays put. The waltz divine stops your line of chatter which you have prided yourself on, and you come to when the music slowly dies out. Its a hard feeling to describe, but well—you just don't care.

Both girls have given up their male friends to the business of war. The girl of either town who does not wear a service pin is a rarity. But, they should worry! Near both cities are large training camps and they have a world of handsome brutes to play the role of the missing one.

Beauty is a delicate subject to discuss. We left a few fair lillies home who join with the cops and saloonkeepers in mourning our absence and now and then our mail brings us anything from candy to cigarettes. Also we knew some San Antonio fair daughters and at present flatter ourselves we are sitting pretty. Q. E. D.—We have no desire to lose out in either place. But there is a difference. We can't explain it and would not if we could. They're both beautiful. God bless them all.

He came to Kelly Field in November, 1917, from the 19th Infantry at Camp Travis, where he was regimental sergeant major. His work at Field Headquarters has won him the esteem of every officer and man on the field.
Last Saturday officers and men at Headquarters presented him with a handsome wristwatch. He was a member of the 144th Aero Squadron. His home is in Philadelphia, Pa.

Firemen Extinguish Blaze.

Kelly Field firemen last Friday afternoon fought a fire which destroyed a tailor shop, curio store, and photograph gallery in San Antonio, but was prevented from spreading to an adjacent restaurant. Companies from the Training Brigades under Chief G. R. McAlpin made the run without waiting for any alarm. Their speedy work confined damage to about $2,000.

"I suppose if I were getting 'full' service I would have a pick in one hand and a shovel in the other," said the limited service man, dejectedly.

Eighty-four students from seven flying fields have reported to the Kelly Field School for Bakers and Cooks and will be trained in the kitchens in this camp.

Twelve are from Talliaferro Field, Hico, Tex.; six from Rich Field, Waco, Tex.; twelve from Brooks Field; eight from Love Field, Dallas, Tex.; six from Call Field, Wichita Falls, Tex.; twenty-eight from Ellington Field, Houston, Tex., and twelve from Post Field, Fort Sill, Okla.

Regular Gas Drill In Flying Department

Gas drill is in full swing in the Flying Department. Starting a week ago, Lieut. L. R. Saunders, officer in charge of instruction, has trained all but about fifty of the cadets. Four hours actual drill and three hours of lecture are required to complete the course.

Three officers and a number of squadron sergeants have been detailed to take the course of instruction so that they may instruct the enlisted men of the Flying Department. Several hundred masks are available for use. After being used by one man they are thoroughly sterilized before used by another.

Need Band Leader At Camp John Wise

Instruments have been ordered for the new Camp John Wise band. Several weeks ago the nucleus of the band was formed and met with such success it was decided to form a complete band. The great difficulty facing the band is the lack of an experienced leader. Competition will be held among the camp musicians this week to determine the fitness of the applicants. In the event that no musician having enough experience to conduct the band is found, it is probable that a leader will be transferred from some other camp.

Non-Com's. Enjoy Vacation.

Mechanics Give Ebony Baton to Kelly Field Band

The Enlisted Mechanics' Training Department has expressed its appreciation of the value of the Kelly Field Band by presenting the musicians with a silver-tipped baton of Mexican ebony, designed and made by mechanics of the Woodworking Department.

The presentation was made last Friday night at the weekly dance held at the Aviation Club, Flying Department. Second Lieut. Duane C. Cady, of the Woodworking Department, performed the ceremony, reading this letter addressed by Major George E. Stratmeyer, officer in charge of the Enlisted Mechanics' Training Department, to the Band:

"The Enlisted Mechanics' Training Department, appreciating the value of the Kelly Field Band, realizing its worth to the Field as an organization, having enjoyed the splendid and masterful renditions of its moonlight sonatas, wherein Kelly Field was transformed into a 'bit of heaven,' its dreamy waltzes, racy one-steps and never-to-be-forgotten fox-trots, and thinking to express its appreciation for the Band and to accord it that recognition it so richly deserves, the Enlisted Mechanics' Training Department here-with presents, with its compliments, to the Kelly Field Band for its use a silver tipped baton of Mexican ebony, designed, constructed and finished by the talent of the wood working Department, of which the Enlisted Mechanics' Training Department boasts and takes such pride. May this little token express the appreciation and good wishes for the Kelly Field Band as it continues to reap a full fruition of its joy."

"Under Cover" Next Big Play Planned by Kelly Players

Camp Travis and This Camp Will Also Produce Joint Minstrel Show

"Under Cover," Roi Cooper MeGrue's famous play which filled the Cort Theatre, New York City, for many months, will be the second large production to be staged by the Kelly Field Players. The roles are now being "scripted," and the cast has been partially selected; announcement will be made soon as to the players who will appear, and the theatre at which the offering will be put on.

Minstrel work, too, will be revived by the players. Second Lieut. S. B. Jacobson, officer in charge of the players, and Wade Boteler, Camp Travis representative of the War Department Commission on Training Camp Activities, are co-operating in a joint Kelly Field-Camp Travis Minstrel show, at which the cream of both camps' talent will appear. It is possible that the show will be staged at the Liberty Theater, Camp Travis.

Brooks Church Program.

The Kelly Field players will appear tonight at the Brooks Memorial Hall, South San Antonio, the program being as follows: Delzell, Nelson, Schuber and Tucker and Lockard.

Band for Wise Hospital.

The Kelly Field Band will play at the Hospital, Camp John Wise, on the evening of September 4.

Players at City Church.

The First Presbyterian Church, San Antonio, was visited last Friday night by the Kelly Field Players, the following acts being staged: Murden, Ponzillo and Mitchell, "Tex" Ellis, and Carrick.

County Farm Thanks Players for Three Programs Staged

Camp Stanley K. of C. Also Grateful for Vaudeville at Hall Dedication

Highly complimentary letters expressing gratitude to the Kelly Field Players for programs they have staged have been received by Col. G. V. S. Quackenbush, Commanding Officer of Kelly Field, from Judge James R. Davis, of the Bexar County Commissioners' Court, A. W. Eddins, superintendent of the Bexar County Farm, Southton, Tex., and James O'Brien, Knights of Columbus secretary at Camp Stanley, Leon Springs, Tex.

The Players appeared three times on the afternoon of Saturday, August 17, before inmates of the Home for the Aged, the Juvenile Home, and the Tubercular Colony, all of which are on the Bexar County Farm. On behalf of the Commissioners' Court, Judge Davis expressed appreciation of the Kelly Field men's efforts, adding: "It did these unfortunate people a world of good, and brought a little sunshine and cheer into their lives." Mr. Eddins declared that "every number was a decided hit."

Vaudeville numbers have been put on at the Camp Stanley Knights of Columbus Hall on several occasions since the players made their debut at the dedication of the building. Mr. O'Brien says: "It surely was fine of you to come 'way out here and make our program the success it was."

In the SPOTLIGHT

Ken O'Hara, chief assistant to Second Lieut. S. B. Jacobson, officer in charge of the Kelly Field players, has been granted a 15-day furlough and has gone to Los Angeles, Cal., where he will marry Jean Crosby, star of the Paralto Film Corporation. M. Biddulph, business agent of the Unit, is also at Los Angeles on furlough but not to get married. He's on serious business.

The Amusement Unit thanks J. Elmer Fox, of the Knights of Columbus for his donation of a ukelele, guitar and clarinets. They will prove very welcome additions to the famous Syncopation Sextette.

A screamingly funny act is in process of evolution; it typifies the tribulations of a rookie. It will have mechanical effects. Lawson, Copeland, Jenks, Reichenbach, Melers, Blough and several others to be selected will make up the personnel of the act.

C. Howard Melson, the Unit's stellar rapid-fire cartoonist has in preparation a new line of cartoons, which will be different from any of his previous offerings.

L. Chefetz, better known as Willie Wiley of The Four Wileys in vaudeville, will be seen shortly in a new act.

"Tex" Ellis

One of the bright stars in the Kelly Field Amusement Unit. He has been in the show business since he was nine years old, playing on the Pantages Circuit of "Big Time" vaudeville. He was a clown with the Al. G. Barnes Circus for two years and with the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus for a year. "Tex" is a native Texan; his grandfather, the Hon. Richard Ellis, wrote the Constitution of the State of Texas. "Tex" is but 20 years old, but his long and varied theatrical career places him among the top-notchers of the business.

Opened K. of C. Hall At Wise Last Sunday

Programs to be Given for Soldiers During Remainder of Month

The new Knights of Columbus Hall at Camp John Wise was formally opened last Sunday with the celebration of mass by the Catholic chaplain, Rev. G. M. Cartier, O. M. I. The new hall has been modeled along the same lines as the main hall at Kelly Field and was built under the supervision of Field Director Jay Elmer of the Southern Department. M. G. Wetherhall, field secretary, has already mapped out athletic programs, moving picture shows, and concerts for the remainder of the month and there will be some sort of entertainment every night. The "Everybody Welcome" sign is in prominent position and Secretary Wetherhall is anxious that every man in the camp make the hall his rendezvous for rest and amusement.

Larger Glee Club Authorized; Fifty Singers Scheduled

Kelly Chorus Teaches 3000 to Sing Marseilles in Original French

Enlargement of the Kelly Field Glee Club from thirty to fifty voices has been authorized by Col. G. V. S. Quackenbush, Commanding officer of Kelly Field, and enlisted men who have fair solo voices and can read music should register at the Y. W. C. A. Hostess House or at Y. M. C. A. No. 72, Flying Department. Appointments for trials will then be made by David Griffin, Field Song leader.

The feature of the Club's work during the past week has been the Community Sing at Travis Park held the evening of Tuesday, August 20, when 3,000 people stood for an hour and a half listening to renditions by the Kelly Field singers, who later taught the entire audience to sing the Marseillaise, the French National Anthem, in the original tongue. After the Sing, the Club members were guests of Mrs. H. P. Drought.

Establish New Y. M. C. A.

With the coming of the first contingent of men to the new repair shops near Kelly Field, soon to be occupied by the Motor Mechanics' Group of Fort Sam Houston, the Army Y. M. C. A. has moved on the new field with the men. Under the direction of the Kelly Field Y. M. C. A., a tent has been erected at the new shops, with Secretary T. B. Peace in charge.

Took Clothes A'Never' thing

"BILL" Messer, cerise haired Jewish Welfare Building Secretary, got a vacation and beat it for the regular burg—Noo Yawk. So excited was he over Broadway—and everything—that at the Penn station he grabbed a valise and a taxi and shouted: "Home, James!"

"Say, ma, I got a present from Texas in my valise," he explained, after kissing everybody—and everything.

His mother opened it up, and found—a future soldier's uniform. She gazed upon the finest collection of baby clothes, and a milk bottle—and everything.

"A present," she said. "You mean a wife. 'Where's the baby?'"

"That's what Bill wanted to know, too."

When the tangle was straightened out, Bill found he had taken the valise of a widow—and everything.

I'm Blonde M'Self

A sweet-scented envelope came to the desk of the editor of The Eagle last week and caused his heart to titillate fervently when he tore it open and scanned the passionate lavender stationery. But, lo! he was sorely disappointed upon discovering that the missive was from some San Antonio Jayne, anxious to learn the identity of a "big blonde lieutenant." Always wishing to help a young woman in distress the epistle is published herewith:

August 18, 1918.

"Editor, Kelly Field Eagle:—
To the rescue Sir Editor!"

A fair maiden in distress wishes to know the identity of the big, blonde lieutenant who sat in the downstairs right-hand box at the Princess Theater tonight at the 9:30 show, accompanied by two more officers, both brunettes.

Couldn't you manage to find out and relieve the anxiety of a reader of the "Kelly Eagle." I'll watch all fliers, both brunettes.

OBSERVER."

Come on, Blondie, ol' topper, and ease the anxiety of the fair maiden. The editor will act as the go-between.

A Rank Error

WHILE this first lieutenant was on leave, the offices in Headquarters, Flying Department, were changed. In addition, Major L. G. Heffernan became the new Commanding Officer.

So when the officer returned he walked casually into what was formerly the Personnel Office. Major Heffernan and Lieut. Ford, assistant adjutant, were there, and the major had his head turned so that his insignia was not in evidence.

Lieut. Ford: "Take your hat off and stand attention."

Officer: "Where is the personnel officer?"

Lieut. Ford: "When you address a superior officer, stand at attention and take your hat off."

Officer: "What? I'll be darned if I'll stand at attention for a second lieutenant."

And out he walked. When he learned his mistake, proper explanations were made. The major saw the joke, being a major and not—a second lieutenant.

Why We Are Fighting

According to George Relph, the British actor who was wounded early in his war career and has just been delivered from the hospital to the stage in London, the Germans do not yet understand why America is in the war. It was not included in the prospectus, and the Germanic mind fails to grasp anything which has not been prepared for him.

Apropos it is told that a German prisoner was being questioned by his captors. Among other questions asked him was one referring to the reasons for the various nations to be at war.

"Do you know why the countries are fighting?" he was asked.

"Ja," was the reply. "The Italians are fighting to whip the Austrians, the French are fighting for their country; the British are fighting for the seas and the Americans are fighting for souvenirs."

THE FLIER SPEAKS

(Dedicated to Lieut. A. A. Adams Who Made This Poem Possible)

By Hart Jenks

145th Aero Squadron, Kelly Field

HAVE you ever had the joy of soaring—Lazy, like a bird—
While your engine's singing steady, and propeller blades are blurred;
While the mist is on your helmet, and the wind's against your cheek,
With your good old ship a-teetering above a cloudy peak?

IT is this that is my dwelling place, my freedom and my love,
It's from here I view the bowl of earth, and sailing high above
And away from men, in solitude I roam the vast, deep air,
Where the desert sands don't choke you, nor the strange cold people stare.

IT is here I loop or "Immelmann" and watch the world swing 'round;
Do a falling leaf while taut wires shriek their joyful sound,
And the earth down there below me, is a-spinning like a top
As it's coming up to greet me while I'm whirling through my drop.

IT is here that storms are fashioned out of lightning and of rain;
Here the wild-goose wakes the morning, here the eagle scours the plain;
Here the cold wind drones the story of his lonely, world-long quest;
Here the deep, with awful glory, pours its hymn upon my breast.

IF your blood has raced within you till you've held your breath for joy,
And you've sensed the thrill that was the doom of Icarus the boy
While you've flown above the checkered earth, mist-rimmed and cupped below,
Then you'll fly and fly forever, for you've felt, you've seen, you know.

The Flying Bug

COOTIES are not the only vermin which have leaped into notoriety since the war started. An author recently wrote a passage which reads:

"Across thy desert walks, the airplane flies."

In the original the line wasn't punctuated. It was not unusual, therefore, that it was read the other evening, at an entertainment, with the comma after "desert," as follows:

"Across thy desert, walks the airplane flies."

"Oh, I didn't know that, said a soldier in the audience. I suppose the government will have to devise some sort of insect powder to exterminate the airplane flies. They must be a terrible bother to aviators."

Clear as Mud

"HOW I detest the vain parade of big-mouthed words of large pretense."

One sergeant, placed temporarily in charge of a platoon at the morning drill of the 819th Aero Squadron, began his talk to the men thus:

"I don't want to appear AMBIGUOUS but there are some things about drilling that I know."

He didn't know how AMBIGUOUS he really was.

The command "Column right about" should only be given while riding on a scenic railway, just before reaching the loop-the-loop.

Because a series of zooms means "break formation" does not mean that the converse is true, and that you have to gallop into the mess hall for breakfast after reveille.

When Hansen Blows the Bugle at Retreat

By Cpl. Walter A. Kibbey
817th Depot Aero Squadron.

I'VE heard the notes of Melba,
I've heard Caruso sigh,
I've heard the wavelets ripple
A sweet old lullaby.

I've heard the prayers of angels,
And all the war-drums beat,
But none so rare
Seem to compare

When Hansen Blows Retreat.

"Baron" Beatty Says

The James boys have nothing on some of our San Antonio merchants.

The Kaiser may be de Beast of Berlin, but we're going to make him de Goat of America. According to the Weather Bureau we're going to have a dry year.

K. P. makes the day seem longer.

For the Good of the Service.

A second lieutenant rushed into the Post Exchange.

"Say, you!" he yelled to one of the waiters. "Come here and wait on me, I'm in a hurry."

"I have orders to work on this section of the counter only, sir," said the waiter, meekly.

"When I call you I want you to come," said the officer, "whether you are in here or on the field."

The waiter snapped to attention, dropping a slice of watermelon.

"Private Blank suggests that the lieutenant make application through military channels requesting my transfer to this section of the counter, for the good of the service," said the waiter.

"Harr-r-rumph, alright, I'll wait," grunted the officer.

Whose Best Interests?

TRANSFERRED elsewhere — one reputation.

The rookie has always been regarded as the most prolific and artistic alibi-creator the world has known. But now he retires, cheerfully and gracefully hands the palm to the officer who wrote this:

"Request that fifteen days' leave of absence be accorded to enable me to visit my fiancée and persuade her to abandon all idea of marrying me during the war, in view of the opinion generally held that it is not in the best interests of the service that a flier should marry in time of war."

The Naked Truth

AT Saturday's inspection of the 870th Aero Squadron, Major George E. Stratemeyer noticed the absence of a comb in viewing the toilet outfit of Corp. Arthur A. Myberg.

"Where is your comb?" Major Stratemeyer queried.

"I have no use for one, sir," was the reply.

Major Stratemeyer glanced at the corporal's head and saw about as much hair as he would find on an ivory billiard ball.

Big Hands are Elite Anyhow

SHE was childishly unaware that her dainty boots were getting full of sand and prosaic earth as she vainly attempted to keep pace with Lieut. Harry Robertson across a rugged stretch at Kelly Field. Finally she told him that she simply must stop and remove some of the bothersome material before she could walk another step.

The boots were removed and a comparatively large quantity dumped out. Then she bounced her stockings up and down in the grass to remove the remaining dust.

"Have you a shoe horn?" she inquired of Lieut. Robertson. The officer frisked his person and then confessed that his shoe horn, together with other toilet articles, had been left at home in his chifonier, and that he had carelessly neglected to bring that piece of furniture along with him.

"I can only help you though," he volunteered, grasping the boots by the back of the uppers, between his thumb and index finger.

"Oh, Lieutenant! That will work fine," said she. "Your thumb nails are just the size of my shoe horn. I'm sure they will do just as well."

Denim Duds.

Albert Spreitzer, star first sacker of the Kelly Field baseball club, is wearing blue overalls on all occasions. He had two pairs of khaki trousers until some light fingered person "lifted" them from the clothes line. His overalls are all he has left.

They call them service cars because of the service they have SEEN.

The Kelly Field Eagle is the outcome of a firm conviction on the part of those who are responsible for it, that the soldiers to whom it goes should be kept informed of the news events which are vital to their welfare.

Its chief purposes are widespread and various. The Eagle wishes to reflect soldier opinion as much as possible and at the same time bolster the spirit and morale of the air service. It is upon this branch of the service that the eyes of America are turned, and the Eagle will do its part to see that America is not disappointed.

It will disseminate all the important and essential news and at the same time act as a check upon "wild" rumors which are conceived in ignorance and spread nothing but hysteria.

Pink Pants, Public Opinion and Motion Picture Advertising

IN THIS DAY and generation of the creation of committees for the Prevention of Vice, for the Prevention of Cigarette Smoking in the Army and for countless other more or less moral reforms, it would come as a great blessing if someone would rise in the Hall of Fame with a resolution demanding the formation of a committee for the Prevention of Advertising
Slides in Motion Picture Houses.

This practice which seems to have attained a sort of throttle hold on our esteemed amusement managers in San Antonio has finally resolved itself into a bad habit. From a purely monetary standpoint we presume it goes to help towards relieving the "starvation" which has forced these persons to raise their prices for the exhibition of Government films and other pictorial masterpieces which played in New York and other cities at least one year back.

It cannot be said that Public Opinion upholds this practice but it can be said that public opinion makes or breaks a playhouse and for this reason it seems particularly odd that these theatre managers should insist upon giving the public what it doesn't want rather than what it does want.

It may be elevating to some minds to be informed upon the tremendous amount of machinery required to dye a pair of purple pants pink, but to the average person who does not want pink pants, it is merely an exasperation.

A "RETREAT SPECIALIST" is a German who makes a retrograde movement as glorious as possible.

THERE IS NO SUCH word as retreat in the bright Lexicon of American history.

Bill: "Those Americans Have Not Yet Learned the Fine Art of Killing Babies!"

France - - by Cecil Chesterton

BECAUSE for once the sword broke in her hand,
The words she spoke seemed perished for a space;
All wrong was brazen, and in every land
The tyrants walked abroad with naked face

THE waters turned to blood, as rose the star
Of evil fate denying all release.
The rulers smote the feeble, crying "War!"
The usurers robbed the naked, crying "Peace!"

AND her own feet were caught in nets of gold,
And her own soul profaned by sects that squirm,
And little men climbed to high seats, and sold
Her honor to the vulture and the worm.

AND she seemed broken and they called her dead,
The Over-Men, so brave against the weak.
Has your last word of sophistry been said,
O cult of slaves? Then it is here to speak.

CLEAR the slow mists from her half-darkened eyes,
As slow mists parted over Valmy fell,
And once again her hands in high surprize
Take hold upon the battlements of Hell.

Apostles of The Double Cross

APOSTLES of the Double Cross sooner or later find themselves nailed on a single one.

The words are newer than the story for it is a story that has gone down through the ages as long as man has schemed against his fellows.

There is nothing laudable in a victory that is not won in the open for the ethics of Fair Play enter into nearly everything a man tries to do.

There is of course a queer streak in human nature which rises up sometimes within us and leads us to take desperate chances for the sake of desperate motives, but the usual result only goes to prove that the original idea was born by a selfish motive and men who think constantly of self are as a rule the last ones to improve themselves.

If you look upon life as a game,
a thing that many of us do, then for the sake of your own happiness and that of others, play the game squarely and in the open.

The man who double-crosses his fellows invariably has a queer twist somewhere in his brain for an upright and fearless man is never compelled to accomplish his ideals through the subjugation and the downfall of others.

It is much more laudable to have climbed the ladder of success by carrying others up with you than it is to have attained the top rung only to find the blood of others upon your heels.
