

Warhawk University

"People Powered"

What is Warhawk University? A systematic approach to manage and maximize training and learning resources within the 37th Training Wing (37 TRW) by sharing them across the Groups and with mission partners. The Warhawk University is tied to the Wing's strategic plan line of effort (3) "People" and falls under the goal of "Maximizing formal professional development forums". Volunteers from the Training & Development Council (T&D) work together to promote and maintain monthly events to give our Total Force (military and civilians alike) opportunities to grow in their professional and personal lives.

The Gateway to Grow Yourself

- Warhawk University is the 37 TRW's commitment to providing Wing members with developmental opportunities to unlock their own potential.
- Our mission requires strong partnerships in training to help bridge gaps, increase opportunities, and provide different perspectives to help us grow and innovate.
- Each Group within the 37 TRW has a Training & Development Council representative to help spread the word about Warhawk University as well as address the specific needs of the individuals within their Group.

Training & Development Council

Collect opportunities for development by identifying internal and external talent for train-the-trainer events, networking, and mentorship to ensure maximum exposure.

Distribute those opportunities to our Total Force population (2.7K) via our robust calendar, user friendly informational website, weekly Public Affairs announcements, bi-weekly newsletter, monthly Hawk Talk articles, and our T&D Council leaders.

Assist in building partnerships with other Department of Defense, Government, academic and private partners to enhance professional and personal development of our workforce.

Assess the needs of our population with proven, data-driven survey tools, course feedback, and testimonials. Constantly evaluate Warhawk University's operations and successes to improve the communities professional and personal learning journey.
